MORE bootleg-hijacker-racketeer killings in New York. So many that Chicago takes second place, and killings become routine news.

"Silk Shirt" John Hennessey, last to be "taken for a ride," was shot only three times. The man killed before him in Brooklyn had nine bullets in his body.

Detectives say that "Silk Shirt" knew too much.

"GUESS I forgot to duck."

Those were the last words of Miss Bessie Poole, dancer in one of New York's night clubs. She died a little later, having, according to Miss Lillian Lorraine, suffered much pain previously.

New York's district attorney says the young lady had been beaten by Mr. Tommy Guinan, brother of Texas Guinan, as the result of her neglect "to duck." Anyhow, she is dead.

EVENTUALLY, perhaps, something will be done about bootlegging resorts in which young ladies that forget to duck are apt to be killed by beatings and alcoholism combined.

Psycho-analysis gentlemen ought to investigate customers of such institutions.

Miss Texas Guinan psycho-analyzed them long ago and greets each one, most appropriately, as he enters, with, "Hello, Sucker."

MRS. AUGUSTA E. STETSON, one of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy's first students and disciples, died yesterday. She had predicted that she would live forever, and doubtless lived longer because she really believed it.

Mrs. Stetson was a woman of strong character and original ideas.

She established the first Christian Science Church in New York City, appropriately selecting an apartment above a drug store, and taking as her motto, "Science and Mind Above Drugs."

Death, however, is more powerful than drugs or "science," and must be obeyed when he beckons.

COMPELLED to change his route by heavy winds, Dr. Eckener, captain of the giant Zeppelin, expects to arrive here on Sunday after a trip of 6,300 miles. Already Americans are taking passage for the return journey.

Air travel across the ocean is actually beginning, although in an uncertain way, as when early American railroads advertised that trains would start, "weather permitting."

SOMETHING new in modern surgery.

Dr. Robert Meals, young surgeon of Hollywood, thought that shock after surgical operation is caused by anesthetics, not by the operation.

To test his theory he removed his own appendix, lying on the operating table propped up, asking the assistance of a brother surgeon only in locating the appendix and removing adhesions.

A fine display of self-control and "courage."

Local anesthesia was employed, but could not prevent internal pain.

THIS operation again raises the question, "What IS courage?"

It reminds us that not long ago, before anesthetics were used, all operations were accompanied by terrible pain.

The clergy said it was a shame to use anesthetics, because it defeated the will of God, who desired His creatures to suffer. That opinion has been abandoned.

HENRY FORD, who went flying with Lindbergh will sail with Eckener, captain of the giant dirigible soon to land here.

It was at Eckener's suggestion that Henry Ford built the mooring mast on his Dearborn airport.

KILLING, intentionally, with bootleg whisky is new.

Morris Cohen, junk dealer, 22 years old, is sentenced to life imprisonment for murdering Hyman Friedman with poisoned liquor.

Friedman's son was Cohen's "rival in love," so Cohen left poisoned whisky in the rival's automobile. The rival's father drank it and died.

ATHENS reports a violent earthquake in the city of Corinth, often shaken by earthquakes before.

Mr. Patterson, real estate man of Sea Girt, N. J., found in the rear seat of his automobile a neat package containing a human hand cut off at the wrist, with the inscription "M. K. K. You are next, Blackhand."

Because that is new it will interest people that will pay little attention to a far away Corinth earthquake.

PANTHERS OPPOSE W. VA. HERE

Downtown Pittsburgh took on the appearance of a typical college town this afternoon as thousands of loyal West Virginia supporters arrived in automobiles, trains, busses and other conveyances for the annual Mountaineer-Panther football battle at the Stadium.

Hours before the game was scheduled to start, hotel lobbies in the downtown district were packed to capacity as the followers of the Mountaineers discussed the chances of their favorites against Jock Sutherland's Panthers.

Although West Virginia and the University of Pittsburgh each has gold and blue as its colors, visitors in the downtown district had no trouble distinguishing the West Virginia fans, as the famous "W. Va." was emblazoned on their large badges.

Defeated by the little Davis & Elkins eleven in the opening game of the season, the Mountaineer adherents were looking for their favorites to make amends against the Panthers this afternoon.

The Panthers took the field a slight favorite in the betting.

SULLIVAN, ORIE DENY RUM RING

Luke Sullivan, the Strip's state representative; Police Magistrate John Orie, Police Inspectors Joseph Elsner and John J. McArdle and others, today asked the government to be more specific in its accusations that they are members of a great rum conspiracy.

Counsel for these politicians filed petitions in Federal Court demanding United States Attorney John D. Meyer to furnish bills of particulars in support of the indictments. Others for whom similar action was taken were Luke Hannan, of the Strip; Stanley Orie, brother of the magistrate; Martin J. Brady and Daniel McLoughlin. All these defendants were among the 167 indicted by a federal grand jury last June. On Wednesday they were COLOR gravure pictures from The Sunday Sun-Telegraph are being used for decorative purposes in Room 19, Wilson School, McKees Rocks.

Every member of the class signed a letter to The Sun-Telegraph in which it was stated, "We liked them so much that we have put last Sunday's pictures on our class room wall. They beautify our room and we hope to find more beautiful ones every Sunday."

Zep Limping 1,800 Miles at Sea

DAMAGED BY SQUALL

The Graf Zeppelin, successfully battling storm in Europe, over the Mediterranean and Gibraltar's straits, fell victim to Atlantic Ocean winds about 1,800 miles off Charleston, S. C., when a squall tore the covering of the stabilizer and did minor damage to the portside, slowing the great ship to about half speed. The crew labors with repairs to the stabilizer while the Zeppelin's radio asks that help be ready in case it is needed.

CONNELLSVILLE TEACHER FINDS BOY HIT BY AUTO

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 13.—On her way home from the Third Ward School, Miss Ruth Duncan, teacher, found Junior Bloom, 7, lying on the roadway, seriously injured. He had been struck by a hit-run driver shortly after being dismissed from school. He was taken to the local hospital, where his condition is said to be critical. Police are seeking the driver.

AIR LINER BREAKS STEERING FIN FIGHTING SQUALL

(Copyright, 1928, by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and the International News Service. Republication of this dispatch wholly or in part is forbidden.)

The mighty Graf Zeppelin, en route from Friedrichshafen to New Yorrk and Lakehurst, N. J., with 60 persons on board and a cargo of mails, met with an accident today when it ran into a sudden squall, according to a radiogram direct from the ship to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The covering of the stabilizer was torn off, but repairs were started at once.

The message, sent at noon, said that all are safe and there is no cause for alarm.

Members of the crew set to work repairing and covering the stabilizer as soon as it emerged from the squall.

The dirigible is proceeding on its way at the reduced speed of 40 miles an hour, the wireless from Karl H. von Weigand, Sun-Telegraph Correspondent said.

Associated Press.

The dirigible Graf Zeppelin, apparently fearing the possibility of a forced landing on the ocean, this morning sent out a request that a surface vessel in the vicinity be sent to follow the course of the airship.

The dirigible was damaged on the port horizontal and was effecting repairs.

..She was about 1,800 miles east of Charleston, S. C.

The Navy Department ordered all the light cruisers stationed at Hampton Roads and destroyers at Charleston to leave immediately for the assistance of the dirigible if they should be called upon.

One message was sent from the dirigible at 6:35 o'clock this morning, Pittsburgh time, and gave the ship's position as 33 north latitude and 45 west longitude. This placed her about 1,100 miles due east of Bermuda.

SPEED REDUCED

The dirigible was proceeding under reduced speed, not making more than about 35 knots.

The last previous word of the ship's position had placed her about 1,800 miles due east of Bermuda early this morning.

The port horizontal is a fin used as a stabilizer and for vertical motion of the ship and is located on the rear end.

Another message received from the Zeppelin said that at 9 o'clock, Pittsburgh time, the ship was at latitude 33 degrees north and longitude 45 west, which indicated that she had made some progress. The message said that the crew had effected limited repairs and at the time expected no need for the surface vessel. The message requested the latest weather reports. It was indicated that the Zeppelin had shifted her course direct for the naval air station at Lakehurst, N. J.

Naval authorities figured out that between the time of the message from Lieut. Commander Rosendahl and the one from the Graf Zeppelin, which was three hours and five minutes, the ship had by shifting her course northward traveled approximately 150 miles, which placed her north of the Bermuda Islands and about 950 miles from them.

MESSAGES RELAYED

Two messages were made public simultaneously by the Navy Department. Commander Rosendahl's message was relayed via Louisburg, Nova Scotia, and possibly other points before being received here. It read:

"Time 11:25 G. M. T. (6:25 Pittsburgh time), position Zeppelin: Latitude 32 north longitude 42 west, course for Cape Hatteras. Proceeding half speed about 35 knots air speed account damage to cover of port horizontal. Effecting repairs as conditions permit. Request surface vessel proceed along our course and stand by. Request weather conditions to westward. In rain squalls at present. Rosendahl."

The other message received at 11:45 a. m., signed Graf Zeppelin via Chatahām, Mass., and directed to the Navy Department, read:

"Proceeding reduced air speed and 50 knots ground speed, course for Lakehurst. Position 33 north, 45 west at 1430 G. M. T. (9:30 Pittsburgh time). Effected limited repairs. At present anticipate no need for surface vessel. Request weather synopsis and forecast along present course."

CAN LAND ON OCEAN

NAVAL AIR STATION, LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Informed of the message from the Graf Zeppelin, in which it was stated that the dirigible was having trouble with her port horizontal, officers of the air station said that the ship could make a landing on the ocean, if necessary, and that if weather were not too rough, part of her would probably remain afloat for 24 hours or more.

ZEP'S RIDERS THRILL AT CRY OF 'STEAMER!'

By Wireless to The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

ABOARD GRAF ZEPPELIN, Oct. 12.—As this message is being sent from the Graf Zeppelin it is 7 o'clock p. m. in our position, or 4 o'clock in the afternoon in New York.

We are 330 miles west of the Madeira Islands, flying at an altitude of 1,400 feet and at a speed of 75 miles an hour.

The weather is good.

We left the Madeiras at 2:45 this afternoon, passing over Funchal. When we were above the beautiful islands we dropped a mail pouch with letters and dispatches, which looked as if they were blown into the water. We were then about 2,500 feet high.

SEE EXCITEMENT

In the spellbinding panorama of the fleeting islands we could see the excitement in the streets of the capital city. Our two artists were in ecstasies. We were in the middle of our lunch, but everybody forgot about that and crowded to the windows.

Heading due west, we shortly entered the long stretch of 2,650 miles from the Madeiras to Bermuda, where we should arrive before daybreak Sunday morning unless a bucking wind should spring up to block our speed.

At 4 o'clock we still had a light stern wind and were easily maintaining our speed of 75 miles. We have been using only four motors at a time all day.

Today, while ocean liners along the northern steamer lane are laboring in the heaviest kind of weather, the Graf Zeppelin is sailing along under beautiful skies more than a thousand feet above the smooth ocean.

Count Brandenstein - Zeppelin, director of the Zeppelin works, and Herr Brandenburg, chief of the German air ministry, are calmly enjoying their game of chess as Commander Rosendahl, of the Los Angeles, looks on.

"Commodore Eckener's selection of this southern route points out an advantage that aircraft possesses in utilizing favorable conditions and avoiding unfavorable weather in ocean crossings," said Commander Rosendahl, as the conversation turned to the enjoyable day in the clouds while the

VARE QUIZ ASSAILS LAWYER

With a farewell clash between United States Senator C. C. Waterman, of Colorado, conducting the Vare-Wilson election contest probe, and counsel for W. B. Wilson, the hearings here were adjourned today to be resumer later, probably in Washington.

Senator Waterman, evidently wearied by the long-drawn-out investigation and repetition of testimony, rebuked counsel for Wilson in the cross-examination of County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong. Armstrong was being quizzed by Attorney John M. Henry regarding the original court action instituted by Wilson after the fall election, 1926.

"Good Lord are you going into all that again?" exclaimed Senator Waterman. "This witness testified to this at the previous hearing. I don't think it is important and I'll tell you right now I'm not going to waste much time on it."

ARMSTRONG "BOSS"

Armstrong testified he had no actual connection with the 1926 election, saying, "I have a lot of confidence in James F. Malone, campaign manager. I conferred with him on matters of prime importance, of course."

Armstrong took entire responsibility for barring newspapermen and candidates from the return sheets immediately after the election while the records were being transferred.

"Nobody had anything to say," declared Armstrong, "I was the boss."

"Now, Where's Dog!" Court Asks Acquitted Suspect

"NOW tell us where the dog is," said Judge Elder W. Marshall in Criminal Court yesterday to Leander Kennedy, Negro, of Blythesdale, Pa., after the latter had been found not guilty of stealing a prize $250 Boston bulldog from H. A. Groah.

JUDGE MARSHALL

A smile went around the court room at the Judge's attitude toward the jury's finding.

"Since you have been acquitted you can speak freely and tell these people where the dog is, so they can get it back," said the Judge. "This is a valuable dog, and I suggest that if you can assist them in recovering it, you do so."

But Kennedy, his eyes rolling about the room, fidgeted before the court and again declared he had never seen the dog.

BEAUTIFY CLASSROOMS

"Your Color Gravure," write children of Wilson School, McKees Rocks, "beautifies our classrooms; we cut out the pictures and paste them on the walls. We hope to find many more beautiful ones every Sunday." These children will find many more, even in tomorrow's Sunday Sun-Telegraph, featuring a full-page color portrait of Herbert Hoover. Here, Miss Caplan discusses the Pittsburgh wharf scene, by Kuhler, used in the Sun-Telegraph's first Color Gravure, with Steve Olenik and Joseph Barna.

ILLUSTRATIONS

Christ Walters' landscape, printed last week, makes nature study easy for Mary Lawrence and Stefanna Chorazewicz. To tell the Sun-Telegraph of their appreciation, Room 19's best penman wrote a letter and all the children signed it, including Joe Zaharko, Mike Ligus, Michael Mosko, Alex Mihok, Lillian Mazer, Gertrude Rosenson, Lucy Tomaszewski, Lawrence Krachkowski, Julia R. Cebulak, Mildred Fall, Wanda Jagielo, Mary Stecko, Mark Matovich, Nick Kitik, Anna Migela, Nick Zomzur, Ladimer Malancjuk and Anna Wasilki.

"LESSONS EASY"

Pictures often make the lessons easy, say these children, studying in history 1st Sunday's colored painting of a sea battle. These children also signed the letter: Annie Lozik, Helen Lemesh, Charles Marvos, Mildred Gafaro, George Pachasa, Helen Kisylycia, Bertha Mardin, Mary Gerlach, Peter Illinicki, Anna Terrek, Anna Halkowitz, Ruth B. Mills, Louis Kielar, Frances Sporcic, Anna Stetz, Anna Boretski, Edward Cooper, Rose Dankevich, Charles Pushkar, Harry Kunca and Mike Sosko.

HE'LL REMEMBER

This young gentleman, George Pachasa, won't soon forget his lesson on Pittsburgh's main industry. So says Miss Taylor, his teacher. He'll remember just as you remember the impressive color picture in the first Sunday Sun-Telegraph color section of the blast furnace. It is that painting, clipped from a color section, that hangs on the wall here just above George's head. The teachers at Wilson School find the pupils' interest so keen, that they hail the color section as a member of their faculty!

SMITH RIPS HOOVER'S 'EVASION'

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

International News Service.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 13.—En route with Gov. Smith in Kentucky, Oct. 13.—Leaving in his wake across Tennessee a series of challenges to Herbert Hoover to debate with him the issues of the campaign, Gov. Al Smith broke over into Kentucky today to make his bid for 13 more electoral votes.

Tonight he speaks in Louisville. His subject will be the tariff.

Yielding finally to the pleas of state leaders for "a real fighting speech" in Tennessee, Gov. Smith in Nashville last night went after Mr. Hoover without gloves. He included also President Coolidge and Senator Charles Curtis.

He accused his Republican opponent of "evasion, ducking, dodging and confusing" the issues of the campaign—from farm relief to prohibition, from water power to immigration.

ATTACKS SPEECH

Gov. Smith concerned himself particularly with the speech which Mr. Hoover delivered at Elizabethton, Tenn., last Saturday. He regaled his audience with copious extracts from Mr. Hoover's speech and then would demand, with rich sarcasm:

"What does that mean? Now where does he stand on that?"

It was upon the water power issue that Gov. Smith went after his Republican opponent hardest. Water power is a warm issue in Tennessee. Just across the border lies the great Muscle Shoals project, the development and disposition of which means much to Tennessee industry.

He declared he had searched Mr. Hoover's speech in vain for some mention of Muscle Shoals.

"To my great surprise," he said, "Mr. Hoover didn't even mention it.

"Let's see what he did say. He said, 'There are local instances where the government must enter the business field as a by-product of some great major purpose such as improvement in navigation, flood control, scientific research or national defense.'

"Anybody that can make anything out of that is entitled to have it.

"I don't know what he can mean by 'by-product' unless it is the generation of power. In another part of his speech he said that [illegible]tions of the public interest by individuals or corporations should not induce us to abandon progressive principles and substitute in their place deadly and destructive doctrines.'

"I would like to know what Mr. Hoover means by 'deadly and destructive doctrines.' Does he refer to government ownership and control of water power sites? If so, why not say it? What is to be gained by clothing it in language that the man on the street is unable to understand?

"Is public ownership and public development of water power deadly? Is it a destructive doctrine? If so, why not let Mr. Hoover come right out and say 'I believe in leasing, or selling or in disposing of, to private corporations for private development and for private profit, the great water power resources that belong to all the people?'

"That would define the issue. But why evade it? Why conceal it behind a wall of high-sounding phrases that leave in the minds of so many thousands of our people the element of doubt as to his exact position?"

TRIES TO EXPLAIN

Since this speech, Gov. Smith said, Mr. Hoover himself had issued two statements trying to expain his position on Muscle Shoals, "and if anything at all, his position has become more involved than ever."

For himself, the Democratic nominee reiterated his policy of public ownership and public control of water power development. And he asked: "Where does Mr. Hoover stand?"

Gov. Smith went into the prohibition issue with the same vigor as he did in Milwaukee.

Again he described present enforcement conditions as farcical, and again he proposed to restore control of this question to the states themselves, subject to congressional limitation on the alcoholic content of beverages.

First, he said, he would have Congress set up "a sensible, clean-cut honest definition of an intoxicant." Then he would amend the Eighteenth Amendment to allow those states that by referendum wanted to be wet, to be wet under strict limitation and rigid control.

SCORES DRY STATEMENT

He quoted from Mr. Hoover's Tennessee speech, in which he said "the Eighteenth Amendment is intended to protect the American home."

"I hope he doesn't mean by that that anybody not in sympathy with it is against the American home. That is a pretty hard thing for anyone to say. I have as much interest in the American home as any man in America. I've been maintaining one for years, and I am responsible for four more starting up. Nobody can make that statement in candor that has any knowledge of the record over the last seven and a half years.

"The long history of graft, corruption, chicanery and everything that is mean and low that can enter into the administration of law has been connected with the Republican handling of the prohibition situation."

The President, Gov. Smith said, has just two duties with regard to prohibition—to enforce the law as written, and to propose to Congress what he thought would better existing conditions.

"I have proposed a cure," he said, "and I will say to the people of Tennessee here tonight that if I am elected president and I take an oath with one hand on the Bible and the other pointing up to heaven to sustain the Constitution and the laws enacted under it, you may be sure I will make that good to the deadly limit."

The building rocked with applause. There was wild applause over his proposed cure; but the building fairly shook over his promise to enforce the law.

Gov. Smith accused Mr. Hoover of subtly trying to misrepresent his (Smith's) policy on immigration. again he took up the Elizabethton speech.

"Mr. Hoover says 'I do not favor an increase in immigration.'

"Why does he say that? What was the necessity for saying that unless it is to try to plant in somebody's mind that I do? I do not favor any let-down at all, not in the slightest degree."

The Governor spoke with some heat about this immigration matter, for it has been widely "whispered" throughout the Protestant South that the election of Smith would mean letting down the bars and "flooding" the country with Catholic immigrants."

WINTRY BLASTS TO CHASE ZEPHYRS HERE TONIGHT

Pittsburgh will have warm weather for most of today at least, according to Weather Forecaster W. S. Brotzman, who predicted a drop in temperature for this evening.

Light rains may accompany the change in temperature, which will be the start of a cold snap which been on its way east for two days.

By tomorrow a temperature as low as 40 degrees can be expected with a killing frost possible for Monday and Tuesday, Mr. Brotzman said. Light frosts have already been reported here this year, although the average date for the first killing frosts in this district is October 22.

Yesterday's high temperature almost broke a record for that date. The appearance of clouds late in the morning prevented the record of 1893, when 84 degrees was recorded, being shattered. The high mark yesterday was 83 degrees.

MRS. STETSON, BELIEVING HERSELF IMMORTAL, DIES

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, former leader in the Christian Science Church and who claimed she was immortal, died here yesterday after an illness of 10 weeks.

Although she had always refused to tell the date of her birth, relatives said she was 86 or 88 years of [illegible]

Death came to the woman, who [illegible] from the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in New York in [illegible] after friction with the Mother Church in Boston, in the hotel suite of her nephew, Maj. Harold W. Stimpson.

She came to Rochester early in August from his cottage in Canada. At that time it was reported she was ill, but relatives declared that she was "well and resting and writing."

She served for 17 years as pastor and first reader of the First Church in New York, which she helped organize in 1886, at the instance of Mary Baker Eddy. She was a student of Mrs. Eddy in Boston when she was selected to organize the New York church.

In 1909 Mrs. Stetson was called before the Christian Science board of directors in Boston for questioning as to the correctness of her teachings. She refused to recant or compromise with the directors on the doctrinal issue and was dropped from membership in the Boston organization.

KDKA TRIES TO PICK UP ZEP

Two special high power receiving sets have been installed by Station KDKA today in an effort to pick up messages from the Graf Zeppelin, now high over the ocean en route to America. As yet KDKA has been unable to pick up any signals from the ship.

Throughout today KDKA will continue its policy of radioing bulletins of the Zeppelin's progress to the German government and to American listeners-in. Messages to the crew of the ship also will be sent at intervals.

STILL THEY'LL VOTE FOR HOOVER!

BRICK TOSSING

Staunch Republicans are Mr. and Mrs. Brook Frye, 2610 Larkins way, South Side. Then came this note: "Get that Hoover sign out of your window or your daughter will suffer. If you don't, you will suffer. A Friend." The sign stayed. That night someone carelessly tossed a brick through the window!

CHILD UNHARMED

Perhaps the brick was intended to harm either parent or the daughter. It broke only the window. And so the next morning, bright and early, not only the Hoover sign was still there, but his picture, torn from a magazine! Here are Mrs. Frye and Anna Marie, 2, who join in thus saying "Fie!"

ocean steamers were being tossed about in heavy seas.

'STEAMER! STEAMER!'

The cry of "Steamer! Steamer!" created the first real excitement aboard the flying ship on this trip when, about 11:30 this morning, we discerned the German Lacorunna, of Hamburg. There was a rush to the windows, and the Germans were all happy to see their flag as it saluted, dipping three times while the signals on the steamer were quickly set to read, "Happy Voyage."

Five minutes later there was another shout, and again a rush to the windows, when it was discovered that we had been sighted by two other steamships, both Britishers, the Gloucester Castle and the Windsor Castle.

The Graf Zeppelin, with the blue sky in the background and shining silver gray against the light, cumulus clouds, must have been a wonderful picture to them.

At noon we were making 81 miles an hour, the wind having shifted to our stern and helping greatly to push us along at a lively gait. Four motors are running, as they have been ever since daylight, one motor at a time being spelled while the mechanics clean the spark plugs in each motor in turn.

Commodore Eckener is sitting at the bridge eating a plate of noodles and pot roast. He has hardly slept a wink since we left Friedrichshafen and almost refuses to leave the bridge for an instant.

GIBRALTAR FROM AIR

Capt. Flemming was walking down the corridor of the airship at 5:20 this morning, when all at once he cried, "Gibraltar!" The shout woke the sleeping passengers, and everybody except the two Americans, Robert Reiner and Frederick Gilfallen, dashed out of their cabins in their pajamas.

It was like a stage pajama party with the troupe thrusting their heads out of the windows and then gathering in the lounge to discuss the scene.

Count Brandenstein - Zeppelin, Herr Brandenburg and Herr Grzesinski ran back to their cabins to put on overcoats in deference to Lady Drummond Hay, who appeared in a black and orange Chinese dressing gown.

But the two famous artists aboard the ship, Prof. Theo Matejko, noted Austrian, and Prof. Ludwig Dettmann, of the Berlin Academy of Art, forgot all about being in their bathrobes and began sketching rapidly. Everybody was interested in our last view of Europe before going out over the broad expanses of the Atlantic.

Our last glimpse of both Europe and Africa came at 6:30 this morning.

We were running along the thirty-fourth parallel at the rate of 72 miles an hour just before noon, with a favorable northeast wind.

All on board are well and happy.

STRAW VOTE OF WOMEN MORE EVENLY DIVIDED

With the straw vote taken by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph now totaling over 80,000 in Pittsburgh, Allegheny and other counties of the state, Hoover shows a lead of 18,552 over Smith.

While Smith usually has led in the returns from the thickly populated districts of the city proper, with Hoover strong in the country districts, returns tabulated from the city yesterday gave Hoover a decided advantage, while votes from suburban Pittsburgh and the rural sections again were emphatically in favor of the Republican candidate.

In yesterday's tabulations the division of women's votes, while still favoring Hoover, were more equally divided than usual.

Today's standing of the candidates in the Pennsylvania canvass, part of the nation-wide poll by the Hearst papers, is as follows: Hoover, 49,582, including 39,670 men and 9,912 women; Smith, 31,080, including 23,980 men and 7,091 women.

This vote in 1924 was divided as follows: Coolidge, 55,141, including 44,048 men and 11,093 women; Davis, 8,886, including 7,477 men and 1,409 women; La Follette, 5,084.

field, a member of the Republican county committee and chairman of the McKeesport city committee, after admitting he was for the Pepper-Fisher ticket in the 1926 primary, denied knowledge of any corruption or effort at corruption in the fall election that year.

"As a matter of fact," said counsel for Vare, "you are against the county Republican organization, are you not?"

"I wouldn't say that," replied Mansfield. "I'm for them when they are right and against them when they are wrong."

Other witnesses included C. J. McBride, a member of the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes; Miles Bryan, of McKees Rocks, and W. Heber Dithrich, county solicitor.

Every ward chairman in Pittsburgh was subpenaed to appear yesterday, along with state leaders. Several of them were not called, however, including John J. Verona, Third Ward; Roy D. Schooley, Eighth Ward, and Joseph G. Armstrong, county chairman and also chairman of the Board of County Commissioners.

District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner, the last witness called yesterday, described his duties as Republican county chairman in 1926, and declared that he knew of no conspiracy to elect Vare. He followed such luminaries in local politics as State Senator James J. Coyne, city chairman at the 1926 election; President of City Council James F. Malone, campaign director for the Republican organization the same year, and Col. Eric Fisher Wood, chairman of the executive committee of the Republican state committee in the notable election.

FREE TAX RECEIPTS

The most sensational evidence of the day was the testimony of Justus Schroedel, superintendent of county property, who admitted that he received batches of tax receipts from the Republican headquarters in the Hotel Henry which he distributed free. When Senator Waterman asked him if he realized this was a violation of the law, he replied, "I thought it was all right. Everybody was doing it."

50 YEARS ON P. R. R., HARRY LEONARD DIES

HARRISBURG, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Conductor Harry Leonard, for 50 years employed on the Philadelphia division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, died at his home here last night. He was 68.

among the 122 who pleaded not guilty to the charge.

JUDGES TO DECIDE

Virtually all of the 122 not-guilty pleaders, including Police Superintendent Peter P. Walsh, now have filed petitions asking the government to make clear its case. Judges R. M. Gibson and F. P. Schoonmaker have not indicated when they will decide on these petitions.

Attorney Oliver K. Eaton, counsel for State Representative Samuel J. Grenet, by agreement with other defense counsel, acted as spokesman in arguments for the bills of particulars. The petitions, practically all alike, set forth that the indictments are vague, indefinite and so general that the petitioner is unable to prepare his defense.

DEFENSE PLEA

Attorney Eaton declared:

"Every charge of conspiracy is difficult for a defendant to meet for the reason it is almost impossible to foresee the possible extent of the evidence; but here the difficulties are tremendously multiplied by the length of time covered by the indictment and by the large number of defendants alleged to have been involved.

"The only way possible in which the defendant can prepare his case is to do so after the filing of a bill of particulars," said Attorney Eaton, "as he must be prepared to meet any evidence which may attempt to connect him with any of the other 166 defendants."

Assistant United States Attorney Ralph H. Smith moved for the dismissal of the petitions.

UNIONS OUT FOR BIGGER CITY

Strong support of the Pittsburgh Metropolitan Plan has been offered by leaders of organized labor in Allegheny county and by prominent attorneys of the Allegheny Bar Association, the Metropolitan Plan Commission has announced.

The argument which has secured labor support for the plan is that to secure Pittsburgh Federal census recognition as the fourth city of the United States with a census rating of 1,500,000 will bring new industry to this district and result in increased employment.

These 16 labor leaders indorsed the plan and have accepted membership on the committee of 1,000:

Peter W. Bollenbacher, Brewers Union No. 22; Alfred L. Criswell, Moving Picture Operators' Union; David J. Davis, City Laborers No. 746; M. J. Dixon, Printing Pressmen; Joseph H. Duty, Wood, Wire and Metal Lathers No. 33; Oliver J. Henninger, Glass Bottleblowers' Union No. 1; Harry J. Kinzler, Letter Carriers' Union No. 84; George F. Lutckens, Painters' Union No. 282; W. E. Maurice, Machinists' Union No. 52; Charles L. Miller, Engineers' Union No. 95; C. A. McHugh, Brotherhood Railroad Engineers; ohn Phillips, Jr., Railroad Engineers No. 728; Arthur D. Reid, Sign Painters' No. 479; W. N. Soules, Trainmans' Union; Charles L. Swift, Pattern Makers' Association; Frank W. Wiebel, Barbers' Union No. 20.

Endorsement of the plan was expressed from the floor of the Allegheny Bar Association in an open forum held yesterday afternoon in the City-County building.

Dr. Thomas Reed of Ann Harbor, Mich., authority on municipal government made an address in which four outstanding advantages of the plan were outlined:

"First, it gives Pittsburgh the census rank it deserves, thus advertising the community at its face value to the world.

"Second, it makes it possible to provide for dealing with metropolitan problems in a metropolitan scale.

"Third, it reserves to the cities, boroughs and townships their cherished rights of local self-government.

"Fourth, most important of all, it ends the quarrel between Pittsburgh and the outlying districts and thus permits the whole community to unite in the promotion of its common interests."

Attorneys who spoke in support of the metropolitan plan were, W. T. Treadway, George H. Stengel, H. E. Carmack, J. Smith Christy and A. G. Smith. Many of the districts that would be affected by adoption of the metropolitan plan were represented at the forum by counsel. No vote was taken.

75 HIT TRAIL AS SPROUL TELLS OF OWN HEALING

Evangelist John W. Sproul, preaching to 3,000 persons in the Glory Barn last night, related the restoration, by faith healing, of his own voice, lost through being gassed in France. More than 75 persons professed conversion.

Evangelist Sproul announced that he would broadcast his sermon tonight over Station WJAS.

The Evangelist broke into tears, as did many in the audience, when he told how he had sung to a dying comrade on a French battlefield. The Evangelist knelt on the platform to re-enact the scene, singing as he said he had done for the soldier.

Sproul said that, gassed in France, he had returned to this country a physical wreck. Fourteen operations were performed to restore his voice, but he remained speechless. He said at this time he professed no religion.

In 1921 he attended a divine healing service in the Sheraden Gospel Tabernacle and there was healed.

Immediately after the service he telephoned his mother and the shock of hearing his voice caused her to faint, he said.

MID-WEST SWEPT BY WINTRY STORM

DENVER, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—The plains country, from the Great Lakes to Oklahoma, today felt the dying gesture of an unseasonable wintry storm which swept into the Rocky Mountain States three days ago, routing lazy Indian summer weather.

As the storm spread eastward toward the Mississippi bringing droop temperatures, rain and occasional snow spits, slowly rising temperature and clearing skies in the Middle Northwest proclaimed passage of the storm from the mountains.

Snowfall had abated in Wyoming, where the storm, which reached blizzard proportions yesterday, marooned tourists, halted air mail and delayed train mail and impeded wire communication.

More than 50 automobile tourists escaped possible freezing to death through the heroism of an unidentified woman who led a relief party from Rock Springs to their marooned automobiles along the Lincoln Highway between Baxter Station and Bitter Creek, Wyo.

The rescuers worked for more than four hours extricating cars, caught in the blinding storm. The occupants and rescuers suffered severe privations from the intense cold. In several cases occupants of the cars had left their machines and attempted to push on to shelter along badly drifted highways. These persons were near collapse when found.

AUTOIST'S FINE ANNULLED

The Pittsburgh Motor Club won a victory in its fight to protect motorists from unjust accusations when, in County Court yesterday, Judge T. C. Jones annulled a fine of $4 against Miss Margaret Beam, of 1227 Wisconsin avenue, Dormont.

Miss Beam was arrested September 17 by Capt. Frank Miller, of Stowe township police, who alleged she had passed a red light. Justice of the Peace Harry Powell fined her. Miss Beam laid the case before the Motor Club and an appeal was taken by Attorney Frank Zappala.

MOTHER DROWNS 3 TOTS

DETROIT, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Mrs. Beatrice Cantera, 32, drowned three of her five children in the Detroit River shortly after midnight and attempted to drown the other two and herself.

Those drowned were: Nita, 3; Mary, 2, and Gloria, 8 months.

The other two children, Nellie, 8, and Lorenzo, Jr., 7, althought thrown into the river by their mother, were able to rescue themselves and call for help.

When attaches of the local harbor master's office arrived, the woman was holding one of the three victims under the water. She was dragged from the water, but the child, Gloria, was dead.

Mrs. Cantera and the two rescued children were taken to a local hospital where the mother was detained for observation. She was hysterical and wept continuously for the baby Gloria.

From 8-year-old Nellie, police learned that "mama hadn't been feeling well lately."

Cantera, a factory worker, was at home when the drowning occurred. He told police his wife recently had exhibited signs of mental collapse.

TROLLEY HITS WOMAN AT NORTH AND BOYLE

Mrs. Jane Howard, 60, a Negro, of 1513 Boyle street, was injured slightly early today when hit by a street car in North avenue at Boyle street, North Side.

American Slain in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—A Gaudalajara dispatch to El Universal today said that an American miner named Charles Smith had been slain by insurgents at Ara Juez. His address in the United States was not given.

The dispatch said that Smith refused to deliver money demanded by the insurgents commanded by Jorge Ibarra, but it gave no further details.

Civil and military authorities were stated to be pursuing the insurgents.

PISTOL TOURNEY WON BY STATE POLICEMEN

Private E. W. Morrison of Troop A, state police, won the unofficial pistol shot championship of Western Pennsylvania yesterday at a meet held on the private range of Thomas A. McGinley, Blackburn road, Sewickley Heights. Police officials from all parts of the district were present to compete for the trophy presented by Mr. McGinley, who is commissioner of the Sewickley Heights Protective Association. The pistol team representing Troop A won the cup for the second time.

YOUTH HELD IN THEFT OF FARMERS' AUTO

Thomas Cole, 18, was held for court by Justice of the Peace A. S. Keith, of Imperial, last night, charged with having stolen an automobile from the farm of H. C. Aten and W. A. Aten, of Imperial. He is said to have formerly worked on the farm, returning there last week and leaving in the automobile.

Drop Battlefield Trip, Vets Not Interested

HAVANA, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—United Spanish War veterans, their thirtieth annual encampment ended, are departing from the Cuban capital. Four special ships sailed for Key West yesterday.

The official trip to Santiago De Cuba and other battlefields of 1598 was called off by the Cuban government because of the small number who registered for the trip.

LONGER THAN LOS ANGELES, TALLER THAN KOPPERS BUILDING

The Graf Zeppelin, sailing today far out over the Atlantic Ocean on its way to Lakehurst, N. J., from Friedrichshafen, Germany, is longer by far than the height of the tallest building in Pittsburgh. In this country, only the far-famed Woolworth Building, New York, is taller than the Zeppelin's length. Here are comparisons: Koppers Building, 475 feet; U. S. S. Los Angeles, 650 feet; Graf Zeppelin, 762 feet; Woolworth Building, 792 feet. If the Zeppelin were to be moored in Fifth avenue, Pittsburgh, it would reach from the First National Bank Building to the Hotel Henry, as shown in the above illustration.

RAIDERS SEIZE STILLS, BREW

A 150-gallon still only recently set up for operation in a three-story brick building at 4825 Friendship avenue, was reported seized by Federal prohibition agents yesterday. No mash or liquor was found and agents believe that the owners were starting operations.

Another still of 50 gallon capacity was confiscated in a residence in Indiana avenue, Glassport, agents said.

In raids on three homes in East Monongahela, the Federal raiders reported seizing 5,112 pints of home brew and a small quantity of moonshine.

HIT BY AUTO, CHILD DIES

Struck by an automobile in front of her home on October 3, Beatrice Heard, 3, of 565 Corey avenue, Braddock, died in Braddock Hospital early today. Hospital attendants reported there was no indication of major injuries, but the child was unable to retain food. Joseph Just, of 507 Stokes avenue, North Braddock, alleged driver of the car which struck the girl, was turned over to the coroner.

RABID DOG AMUCK BITES 6 STUDENTS, 12 OTHERS

A rabid dog at large for several days in the vicinity of North Elizabeth and Glenwood avenues is believed to have bitten at least 18 persons, according to the Animal Rescue League, which is holding the animal for observation. Many victims failed to pay attention to their injuries.

Teachers of the Gladstone Junior High School have sent police the names of six students who said they had been bitten. They are Rose Telerico, of 5134 Longhorn street; William Brewer, 414 Path street; May Jenkins, 5280 Second avenue; Thomas Grove, 136 Marsden street; Jacob Wanetik, 236 North Elizabeth avenue and Gerald Lawson, 4943 Second avenue.

Others who reported that the dog had attacked them are Mrs. May McAmbridge, 323 North Elizabeth; her sons, John, 14, and Charles, 12; Patrolman Walter Beal, [illegible] Beal and Mrs. Robert T. Beal, all of the North Elizabeth avenue address; John McHugh, 4, of Dauphin street; Mrs. Isolene McHugh, and Raymond Schmidt, 14, of 5106 Glenwood avenue; Karl Powell, of 215 Glen Caladh street, and Mrs. Marie McDougal, of 5025 Blair street.

Four days ago the dog last attacked Miss Margaret Benson, of 4839 Lytell street, while she was walking in Second avenue. She turned the dog over to Patrolman James Tanney. The dog was examined at the West Penn Hospital and found to be mad.

VOTE CHEATER GETS PAROLE

Fire Captain Charles Golden, who was sentenced to serve a year in jail for conspiracy to violate the election laws while he was serving as chairman of the Tenth district of the Twenty-second Ward, was granted a parole yesterday by Judge Harry H. Rowand. He began his jail sentence on February 24 last and had served about seven and a half months.

Attorney Charles B. Prichard, who presented the petition, said Golden's family, consisting of his wife and 15-year-old daughter, were in want. District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner and Warden John McNeil, of the jail, recommended that a parole be granted.

A previous petition for a parole was presented and rejected three months ago. At that time it was said that imprisonment was injuring Golden's health.

G. O. P. STAGES TWO RALLIES

In spite of the warm temperature nearly 200 men and women attended the Republican rally held in the Masonic Hall, Elizabeth borough last night. The speakers included William H. Coleman, chairman of the Republican campaign committee of Allegheny county, Attorney Ralph Smith and Miss Suzanne Beatty.

The Republican men and women of Cheswick borough held its first meeting of the campaign at the Cheswick School auditorium, last night. The speakers were Miss Sara M. Soffel and J. W. Johnston.

SLASHING LAID TO INSULT

Alleged to have insulted Mrs. Rocco Depalo, of 1105 Gilmore way, while she was walking with her husband, at Washington and Epiphany streets, last night, Jacob Brange, 26, of Murdo street, North Braddock, was stabbed in the back by one of several men who came to the rescue of the couple.

Brange, treated at Passavant Hospital, was arrested on a suspicious person charge. A like charge was lodged against Depalo.

INDUSTRIES HAMPERED BY RAIL RULE

The Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce has reopened its fight for better joint rail and water freight rates to southwestern points, Donald O. Moore, traffic secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, announced yesterday.

E. G. Siedel, traffic manager of the Armstrong Cork Company and vice chairman of the Shippers' Council of the chamber, representing Moore, testified at the Interstate Commerce Commission hearings which have been reopened at Galveston, Tex., that Pittsburgh shippers want through joint rail and ocean rates to Houston and Galveston, also joint through rail-ocean-rail rates to interior southwestern points within a reasonable distance from the ports. These should be sufficiently lower than the all-rail rates to make the use of the rail and water service attractive.

NO JOINT RATES

Mr. Siedel pointed out that for many years no through joint rates have been available. It has been necessary to make combination rates by using local rates to points east of Pittsburgh plus the combination rates from those points.

The purpose of the combination rates is to allow local industries to ship by rail to Atlantic ports, from there by ships to the Houston-Galveston basin, and from there by rail to interior points.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, in its decision in the Consolidated Southwestern case, ordered the withdrawal of boat line tariffs in which the railroads did not concur, joint tariffs with the concurrences of railroads to be substituted therefor. The basis of rail and ocean rates prescribed by the commission, however, is considered too high, and upon petition of the boat lines and the eastern shippers the commission reopened that portion of the proceeding for further hearing.

Whatever basis of rail and ocean rates is established from eastern points should include a group embracing Pittsburgh industrial district points, to avoid the necessity of constructing combination rates on less important points east of Pittsburgh, Siedle contended.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, investigating the freight rates on iron and steel articles, has granted an extension of the time for filing exceptions to the recommendations of Examiners Faul and Bardwell for a mileage scale of rates affecting territory east of the Mississippi River and north of the Ohio River.

George B. McGinty, secretary of the commission, has notified the Pitttsburgh Chamber of Commerce that the time for filing exceptions has been extended to December 1 and the replies to December 31. The original time limit for filing exceptions was November 1.

Payroll Gouge Hit

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Alleging that public school officials are being coerced by politicians in the state of Pennsylvania, Dr. Joseph F. Noonan, president of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, in his address before the northwestern district meeting in the Academy High School here, spoke of what he termed a pernicious practice.

"It is rumored that all members of the State Department of Public Instruction have been practically assessed 3 per cent of their annual salaries as campaign contributions to the Republican organization in Pennsylvania," Noonan told the 2,000 teachers assembled here. "If this is true the public should know that this is the first time within a decade that even a suggestion of this sort arose."

He intimated that all campaign contributions will be closely scrutinized and watched for names of employes of the state in educational circles who have been forced to contribute, the teachers pledging themselves to do everything possible to fight this practice of taxing them for political purposes.

OUSTED CLASS IN NEW HOME

The Callender Bible Class, which, because of its fundamentalist stand, was ousted from the South Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, Wilkinsburg, has found a new meeting place. It is the Malta Temple, South and Coal streets, Wilkinsburg. The first session in the Temple will be held tomorrow morning. The class has a membership of 160 men.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Reita Lambert, Co-Author of "The Imperfect Lady," Is Wife of Scion of One of Sewickley's Oldest Families

DEBUT SOON :-: RECENT BRIDE :-: MARRIES TODAY

MARGARET LOUISE ECKHARDT

Miss Margaret Louise Eckhardt, daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Henry P. Eckhardt, Morewood avenue, will be married today to Carl H. Reker, Cleveland.

PERHAPS you will be as interested as I have been to know that Reita Lambert, one of the authors of Pauline Frederick's play, "The Imperfect Lady," is in private life Mrs. Arthur Nevin, wife of a scion of one of Sewickley's oldest families. This is Mrs. Nevin's very first play and, strange to say, she has never seen it on the stage. That is easily explained, though, since the Nevins have been at their villa just outside of Paris during the whole season—in fact they just landed in New York on Wednesday. They are expected to come here, I believe, for the local premiere of the comedy, schduled for October 22 in the Pitt Theater.

You may remember that the Nevins spent about six months in Sewickley a year or so ago, renewing old friendships and seeing their relatives there. Mrs. Thomas A. Standish, of Meadow lane, Sewickley, is Mr. Nevin's sister, you know, and their brother was that famous composer, Ethelbert Nevin.

Arthur Nevin is gifted with great musical ability, too, and has been feted abroad as one of the most distinguished of our American composers. During their stay in France, I understand, Mr. Nevin was working on a new symphonic poem which is now complete and will be performed orchestrally this winter. It may be recalled that his first opera was produced by the Royal Opera Company in Berlin and his second, "A Daughter of the Forest," was done by the Chicago Opera Company.

Mrs. Nevin had the collaboration of Zelda Sears in writing her first play, and Miss Sears is, I believe, a leading member of the cast. The Nevins aren't planning to make more than a very brief stay in town, since Mr. Nevin is busy in New York completing arrangements for the performance of his symphonic work. Then they will sail back to France again to remain through the winter.

IF I may make a somewhat abrupt change from the professional to the amateur side of the theater, I want to tell you about the two extra performances of "The Whole Town's Talking" to be given by the Sewickley Valley Hospital Cot Club. Their Sewickley performance is scheduled for October 23, you remember, but before that, on next Thursday, to be exact, the cast will go to Aspinwall to put on their play for the men at the United States Veterans' Hospital.

Then, on October 26, the club will give its annual benefit performance for the Pennsylvania Committee on Penal Affairs. This will be presented in the afternoon in the Pitt Theater. Mrs. Carl Borntraeger is general chairman for the benefit, and she is being assisted by Mrs. Benjamin Franklin Jones III.

In connection with the performance in Sewickley, which will be given, as usual, in Guild Hall, I hear that Mrs. George Phelps Rose, president of the club, is going to give a buffet supper for the cast in her home. This will be, of course, after the play.

THE list of parties for the debutantes continues to grow. The latest addition is a tea which Mrs. William Smith Stimmel is to give in her home in Ellsworth avenue on Thursday, November 22, for Rebecca Follansbee. Mrs. Stimmel will be assisted in entertaining by her daughter, Mrs. John Haynes Follansbee, who is Rebecca's sister-in-law.

AT A bridge luncheon given today by Miss Kathryn Franzell in the Shannopin Country Club, announcement was made of November 10 as the date chosen by Miss Helen Roberta Means, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ingram Means, of Forest avenue, Bellevue, for her marriage to Harold A. Hutchison, of this city, son of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. James E. Hutchison, of Clarion, Pa.

THE marriage of Miss Ruth Thompson, granddaughter of Mrs. Nellie E. Canty, of Amm street, and James P. O'Reilly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. O'Reilly, of Coraopolis, was solemnized Monday morning at 8 o'clock in St. Bernard's Church, Bradford, by the Rev. Charles Ward. Miss Frances Murray, of Detroit, was maid of honor and Leonard C. O'Reilly was his brother's best man. Miss Elizabeth F. Smith sang. A breakfast in the home of the bride's grandmother followed the ceremony, and later Mr. and Mrs. O'Reilly left for an eastern motor trip.

MR. AND MRS. BERNARD GELDER, of Northumberland street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Rita Helen Gelder, to Bernard Friedman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Friedman, of Inverness street. Mr. and Mrs. Golder will be at home Sunday night in honor of the engagement.

PITTSBURGH alumnae of Western College, Oxford, O., will hold a musicale in the ballroom of the Hotel Schenley Saturday night, November 3, under the direction of the president, Mrs. William McKelvey; Mrs. Richard T. Earl, vice president; Mrs. Walter Young, treasurer; Miss Norma Evans, secretary and chairman of printing, and Miss Helen C. Edgar, chairman of publicity.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. THEODORE B. WELSH, of Oakmont, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Viola Stewart Welsh, and Brendan Charles Leahy, of Oakmont, which was solemnized Thursday morning. After an eastern trip, Mr. and Mrs. Leahy will be at home in New Kensington.

SOUTHERN CLUB HAS 25TH BIRTHDAY PARTY

THE Southern Club rounded out a quarter of a century yesterday and celebrated the occasion with a delightfully appointed president's day tea in the Hotel Schenley. Mrs. Arthur B. Lynn, now serving her second year, received with five past presidents, Mrs. Samuel McClay, Mrs. W. A. Hemphill, Mrs. William E. Hamnett, Mrs. Charles B. Ellis and Mrs. Charles C. Bunton. There were simple but exquisite decorations of fall flowers and the tea table was centered with a decorated and lighted birthday cake. A very lovely program of instrumental music was given by Miss Mary Redmond, violin; William Roberts, 'cello, with Miss Hulda Lefridge at the piano, and Miss Lefridge also accompanied Mrs. Martha Eaton Brickman, who sang three numbers with especial charm. Mrs. Joseph W. Marsh, wearing black lace and a black hat, and Mrs. McClay in fuschia crepe and velvet hat to match presided at the tea table. Mrs. Lynn appeared in chartreuse chiffon with black hat.

THE Carnegie Woman's Club has changed the date of its president's day reception from October 26 to the twenty-fifth. It will be held in the home of Mrs. Case A. Foster. Yesterday's meeting was held in the Y. W. C. A. with Mrs. Homer Nixon as hostess and Mrs. Harry Herron as leader. Papers on "The South Today" were given by Miss Mary Ingram, Miss Mary Harris and Mrs. A. B. Huff, and the program was supplemented by Miss Lavinia Boone's vocal solos, Mrs. Walter Yourd accompanying, and readings by Miss Jean Geib.

THE past presidents of the Progressive Blind Woman's Club are receiving this afternoon with the president, Mrs. Aloys G. Bongartz, at the reception being given in her honor at the Congress of Clubs. Besides Mrs. Bongartz' address, the program includes vocal solos by Miss Mary Claire, a reading by Mrs. Walter A. May., Jr., and greetings from visiting club women. Hostesses for the tea hour include Mrs. Moses Ruslander, the club mother; Mrs. Bradley S. Joice, Mrs. J. G. Lewis, Mrs. H. R. Latimer, Miss May H. Levy and Miss Lyde Kerr Wilson.

MRS. H. S. MARSH, who was in charge of the program for the first meeting of the Aspinwall Club's drama department yesterday afternoon, presented a one-act play, "The Weak Spot," by George Kelly. The cast included Mrs. W. H. Reuter, Mrs. Paul Scott and Mrs. J. J. Frey.

THE Rev. Thomas J. Bigham will speak on the Metropolitan Plan before the Mt. Oliver Civic Club Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Catherine Freund, Locust street. There also will be a talk on the welfare fund and Mrs. Craig Geddis will outline her plans for Pittsburgh junior matinees, the first of which, on November 3, will be a benefit for the Congress of Clubs.

* * *

THE Brighton Woman's Club will conduct a sale for the blind Thursday in the home of Mrs. C. N. Rodgers, Winshire street, North Side.

THE Presidents' Association, Ladies of the G. A. R., will have a luncheon on Thursday in the Chatham Hotel.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH OPEN TOMORROW

Reopening and anniversary services will be held tomorrow at St. Andrew's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Center and Morewood avenues, with special sermons and music. The church auditorium, in which alterations and improvements have been made, during the past two months, will be reopened. At the same time the thirty-seventh anniversary of the congregation will be observed. The seventeenth anniversary of the pastor, the Rev. H. P. Eckhardt's coming to Pittsburgh, also will be observed.

The sixth season for the Open Forum at East End Christian Church opens tomorrow night, with members of the Eastern Star attending. The theme will be "The Place of Women in Modern Society." Questions from the floor will be answered for one-half hour. The pastor, the Rev. Dr. John Ray Ewers, preaches at the morning service.

HARVEST HOME FETE

A harvest home festival will be held tomorrow at Trinity Lutheran Church. The Rev. Dr. Alonzo J. Turkle speaks at both morning and evening services. The cantata, "Song of Thanksgiving," by Maunder, will be presented.

The Volunteers of America hold their regular weekly service at the North Side Chapel tomorrow evening, with the feature being a musical program by the North Side Christian Choral Union, under the direction of Charles Heffner. Maj. Richard H. Ives speaks.

Tomorrow night at Calvary Protestant Episcopal Church, Shady avenue and Walnut street, the choir of 60 voices sings Mendelssohn's "St. Paul." George Curry, cellist of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, will play several numbers by Mendelssohn.

A special musical program by an orchestra of 40 pieces will be given tomorrow afternoon at North Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, under the direction of C. N. Boyd.

Communion service will be observed tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at First Evangelical, Bellefield, Sixth, Edgewood and Knoxville Presbyterian churches.

ANTI-SALOON SPEAKER

The Rev. Dr. D. E. Cruea, superintendent, Anti-Saloon League of Western Pennsylvania, speaks tomorrow morning at the Church of the Brethren, Greenfield avenue. In the evening Dr. Kirkland Craig, secretary, Allegheny County Sabbath School Association, speaks.

The Rev. Herman T. Reinecke preaches tomorrow at Third Presbyterian Church during the absence of the pastor, Dr. W. L. McEwan, who will preach at Princeton Theological Sebinary.

Lieut. Col. Clara Van der Schouw, Women's Social Service secretary, eastern territory, is the guest speaker at the 8 o'clock service tomorrow evening at the Salvation Army auditorium. Capt. Felix Appleby speaks at the morning service. Musical programs will accompany both services.

QUESTION SERVICE

The Rev. Dr. George W. Shelton, pastor, Second Presbyterian Church, speaks tomorrow evening on "Can One Be Saved Without Christ?" He will answer such questions as "Is One Religion as Good as Another?" "Does It Really Matter What We Believe?" "Is It Enough to Be Sincere?" and "Can Good Morals Alone Save?" He also preaches at the morning service.

The Rev. Don Spencer, of Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, speaks tomorrow morning at Second United Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. George W. Brown, of New York, occupies the pulpit of Bellevue Presbyterian Church tomorrow evening at 7:45 o'clock.

The Rev. Dr. W. Wofford T. Duncan, pastor, Emory Methodist Episcopal Church, preaches tomorrow morning on "Is Protestantism Declining?" He also speaks in the evening.

Miss Anna Belle Stewart, director, Path Stockdale Presbyterian School, at Concord, W. Va., speaks tomorrow evening at First Presbyterian Church, Crafton.

The Rev. Homer C. Renton preaches at the morning and evening services at Oakland Methodist Episcopal Church tomorrow.

An address by Mrs. Olyn Hudson will be given tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Third United Presbyterian Church. Her subject will be "Egypt and Turkey."

"Temptation, Every Man's Battle" is the Rev. Dr. Clarence Edward Macartney's sermon tomorrow evening at the First Presbyterian Church. His morning subject is "He Thanked God and Took Courage."

"The Fearlessness of Christ" is the sermon theme of the Rev. Dr. David Lang, pastor, Shady Avenue Presbyterian Church, tomorrow morning.

"Missing the Wedding" is the subject of a special sermon to young people by the Rev. Dr. Percival H. Barker tomorrow evening at Point Breeze Presbyterian Church.

"The Enemies of Mankind" is the sermon theme of the Rev. M. Herbert Messner, pastor, Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Carrick, tomorrow morning at 10:45 o'clock.

FUND MEETS ARRANGED

Residents of all districts of Allegheny county are opening their homes for meetings for discussing the objects and plans of the welfare fund of Pittsburgh in its campaign, November 12 to 22, for the co-operative financing of social service organizations. Mrs. John W. Lawrence, chairman of the meetings committee in the canvass, announced yesterday that hundreds of gatherings would be held before the opening of the campaign.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

WHEN Pittsburghers tune in on the Lucky Strike dance hour which will be broadcast over WCAE tonight at 10 o'clock they will hear a program, consisting entirely of dance music, which will be made up of the most popular rhythmic tunes that "made Broadway Broadway." The opening dance will be "The Best Things in Life are Free," followed by "Half Way to Heaven" and the "Varsity Drag." A feature of the broadcast will be a medley of George M. Cohan's popular hits of bygone days and a typical message from the noted composer-comedian will be read to the radio audience. Following this will come a series of familiar favorites, including "Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet," "Bo-Peep" and "Waitin' for the Robert E. Lee." The program:

"This Is My Lucky Day," "The Best Things in Life Are Free," "Georgie Porgie," "Half Way to Heaven," "Varsity Drag," "When You Were Sweet Sixteen," "Talking to Myself," "Digga Digga Doo," "Anything You Say," "Last Night I Dreamed You Kissed Me," medley of George M. Cohan's hits, "In the Shadows," "Bo-Peep," "Dream River," "Was It a Dream?" "Look for the Silver Lining," "Yes, We Have No Bananas," "Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet," "Waitin' for the Robert E. Lee," "Down South," "This Is My Lucky Day."

"The Prince of Pilsen," by Gustav Luders, in which Jessica Dragonette and Colin O'More will have the leading roles, will be produced as the feature for the Philco Hour over KDKA at 8 o'clock. The operetta, based on the book by Frank Pixley, has been produced both in London and in New York. The scenes are laid in the garden of the Hotel Internationale during Act I, and in the court of the same hotel, in Nice, France, for Act II. Carl Otto, Prince of Pilsen, is a Heidelberg student, and the plot moves around his adventures in France and his infatuation for Mrs. Madison Crocker, while Hans Wagner, a Cincinnati brewer traveling in Europe, provides the comic relief.

Perhaps the outstanding program from KDKA tonight will be one to Commander Richard E. Byrd and his men en route to New Zealand on the voyage into the Antarctic, at 11 o'clock. The first part of the program will be music played by Don Bestor and his orchestra, which will be transmitted directly from the William Penn Hotel, followed with messages to the expedition from friends and relatives.

At 7 o'clock WCAE will broadcast two plays by the Strollers, under the direction of Mae Sweeny. The first of these, "Judge Lynch," won the Belasco Cup in the National Little Theater Tournament in 1924. The story of the play as its name might suggest is a tale of lynching in the South. The part of Mrs. Joplin will be played by Mae Sweeny; Ed Joplin, her son, by Gerard MacAteer; Ella, her daughter-in-law, by Nora O'Connor, and that of the Stranger by Claude Morris.

The second play, "Deceivers," is in a lighter vein, being the age-old story of the man who pretends to work overtime at the office in order to indulge in a game of poker with ludicrous consequences. The same cast will be heard in the second play.

STAGE AND SCREEN ACTIVITIES DETAILED IN PICTURES AND GOSSIP ABOUT PLAYERS

Hollywood Studios Send Forth Rumblings of Productions Which Come in the Near and Far Distant Future

"Trader Horn" to Be Filmed In Africa, With Lion's Roar And Other Sounds Recorded

By REGINA CREWE.

(Copyright, 1928, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 13.

DIRECTOR "WOODY" VAN DYKE is planning for his hegira from the Metro studios to the depths of darkest Africa, whither he will soon go to make one of the most novel photoplays ever produced—a screen version of "Trader Horn," with sound and dialog. Not only will you be able to see the very heart of the dark continent, but you will be able to hear that heart beat. Everything from the roar of lions to the sound of chiggers boring into the flesh of the actors will be caught by movietone.

And the chigger part is no joke. For the leading lady in the picture, probably Dorothy Dee or Blanche LeClaire, must do much of her stuff bare-footed. No leading man has been selected, but Director Van Dyke is firm on one thing. He must have courage. Stamina is going to count more than acting ability when the troupe gets into gorilla infested jungles. About 40 people will make the trip, but of these only three will be actors. Perhaps the most important will be the physician. Just as a breather, Van Dyke probably will direct Ramon Novarro in "The Pagan" before he sails for Africa. This picture will be made in Hawaii, and can be completed in less time than it will take the "Trader Horn" company to reach its far-off location.

Shifts in the cast of the Paramount picture, "The Wolf of Wall Street," place Nancy Carroll in the picture as leading lady, and give Lane Chandler the juvenile role. Fay Wray and Gary Cooper were at first supposed to act these roles. But other arrangements have been made for them.

Nicholas Soussanin, who is engaged to become the husband of Olga Baclanova in the not too far distant future, has been given the biggest role of his film career in "Tong War." In the past Soussanin has made any role assigned to him an outstanding one. With this opportunity, expect big things. Jack Oakie, who did so well in "The Fleet's In," is another new addition to the cast.

When Ramon Novarro leaves for Europe in February, one of the countries he will visit is sunny Spain. It is noised about that Ramon has been selected for the leading role in the film version of "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," and that he will make some shots for the production in the land of the Dons.

The latest in the sound picture situation is the invention of rubber jewelry for audible pictures. Roy Pomeroy, head of Paramount's sound department, evolved the idea for the rubber rubies and other guttapercha gems, when it was discovered that the swish of a beaded gown, the tinkle of bracelets and similar sounds were all picked up by the recording device and became miniature subway roars by the time they passed through the amplifiers.

Allene Ray, who used to be Pathe's biggest serial star before she left the screen for an interlude of domestic life, has determined to continue her career in motion pictures. In future, however, Allene will act roles in feature picture productions, and leave the chapter-plays to others.

Another favorite of yesterday, who is now playing a role in Henry King's picture, "She Goes to War," is Greta Hartmann, who, in private life, is Mrs. Alan Hale. Mrs. Hale's advent in filmdom was heralded by a wild burst of exploitation, in which it was claimed that her name was Sonia Markova, and that she was a "newly arrived Russian star." The present part offers the player a great chance for her come-back.

SOME SCENES :-: GIVING GLIMPSES :-: OF NEW FILMS

Norma Talmadge in a bit from her coming picture, "The Woman Disputed," to be released in November. In the cast are Gilbert Roland, Arnold Kent and Gustave Von Seyffertitz.

Betty Compson and her screen husband, George Bancroft, in the latter's new picture of life of the old-time waterfront, in which George is stoker. Sounds hard, doesn't it?

Nancy Carroll seems to be telling Paul Lucas not to get fresh in this scene from "Manhattan Cocktail," picture of backstage life with Nancy as a chorus girl.

Rules for Sun-Telegraph-Zain $15,000 Ad Test

1—$15,000 in cash and prizes distributed over seven weeks. Grand prize, $1,000. Grand weekly prize, $100. Five prizes each week for best ads written for each concern participating—195 each week, 1,170 prizes in all.

2—$1,000 for best ad submitted during entire campaign. Winners to be selected by committee of Pittsburgh advertising men and women.

3—Ads for third period must be received by midnight, October 17, at the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa. Ads arriving after that time will be automatically entered for the next period, and so on.

4—Ads submitted for the grand prize must be received before midnight on November 15, 1928. In order to compete for grand prize, contestants must have submitted at least one ad on each concern listed.

5—One person may submit any number of ads. The test may be entered at any time. Ads may be written about any one or all, or any product or all, of the concerns listed. A person may win more than one prize.

6—Write only one ad on one piece of paper at least postcard size. Place name of advertiser at top, write words, phrase, poem, slogan, essay or letter. Sign YOUR name and address plainly on BACK of each sheet. Also on the flap of the envelope. SEND TO THE ZAIN AD-WRITING TEST, CARE OF THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

7—Ads are to become property of advertiser to use in any manner he sees fit. No ads returned. No subscriptions necessary. No blanks to sign. No entrance fee required. No coupons to clip. All professional ad writers and newspaper employes barred.

8—In the event of a tie, the prizes will be awarded to EACH winner.

(Copyright, 1928, Z. A. S.)

SPECIAL PRIZES

The following special prizes, in addition to the $15,000 in prizes originally announced, are offered in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Zain Ad-Test:

PICKERING'S offer a beautiful Junior Lamp for the best ad about their store submitted during the third period.

POTTER TITLE & MORTGAGE GUARANTEE CO. offer $10 in gold to each writer of the five best ads submitted on the subject of "Title Insurance" during the entire Ad-Test.

YELLOW CAB CO. (Court 5700), offer a book of Yellow Cab coupons for best ad each period.

MAX AZEN offers a $100 Fox Scarf for the best ad on their store during the entire Ad-Test. If the $1,000 grand prize ad is about their store the writer will receive a $500 natural squirrel coat.

B. K. ELLIOTT CO. offer a pair of binoculars for the best ad written about their business during entire Ad test; a Moore Pen Desk Set for second best ad; and a fountain pen for each of the three best ads each period.

HALLER BAKING CO. offer a book of ten tickets for Haller's Special Family Bread for each of the five best ads each period, exclusive of the five newspaper winners.

FEDERAL TOBACCO CO. will give one box Areo Specials to each of five winners on this product each period.

TECH ICE CREAM will give a gallon of ice cream for each of the five best ads on their product each period, exclusive of the first five winners selected by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

CRUIKSHANK BROS. offer one case of "Cru-Bro" Jelly (2 doz.) for each of the five best ads submitted each period, as selected by this concern.

PERU SCIENTIST CITY'S GUEST

Dr. Julio Tello, director of the New Museum of Archaeology of Lima, and a member of the Chamber of Deputies of Peru, is in Pittsburgh today. He made an inspection of the Homestead works of the Carnegie Steel Company in the morning and attended a luncheon in the Faculty Club of the University of Pittsburgh in the afternoon.

Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock Dr. Tello will be a guest of the Carnegie Museum at a dinner in the ballroom of the Faculty Club. Monday morning he will inspect the East Pittsburgh plant of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. At noon he will address the Hungry Club luncheon in the Fort Pitt Hotel and at 4:30 o'clock will give an illustrated lecture in the Mellon Institute.

LEGION WILL SPONSOR MARINE BAND CONCERTS

Capt. John M. Clarke Post 305, American Legion, Wilkinsburg, has announced that arrangements have been completed whereby the United States Marien Band will make their annual Western Pennsylvania appearance at the Rowland Theater, Wilkinsburg, on Tuesday, November 13.

Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Gretna, La.—"After my first child was born I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a run-down condition. I could not walk across my room at times, I was so weak. A friend induced me to take the Vegetable Compound. Since that time I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Herb Medicine and the Pills for Constipation, and I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a housekeeper and I am still taking the Vegetable Compound as a tonic to enable me to do my work."—Mrs. E. F. VICKNAIR, 529 Hancock Street, Gretna, La.

ALWAYS DEAD TIRED?

How sad! Sallow complexion, coated tongue, poor appetite, bad breath, pimply skin and always tired. What's wrong? Your are poisoned. The bowels are clogged and liver inactive. Take this famous prescription used constantly in place of calomel by men and women for 20 years—Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They are harmless yet very effective. A compound of vegetable ingredients and olive oil. They act easily upon the bowels, free the system of poison caused by faulty elimination and tone up liver.

Be beautiful. Have rosy cheeks, clear eyes and youthful energy that make a success of life. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly. Know them by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

JUDGES IN ZAIN AD-TEST

PEEBLES
MORTON
McCLURE

PICK WINNERS FOR SECOND PERIOD

These authorities on advertising judge the ads submitted in the second period of the $15,000 Zain Ad-Test and selected the winners, which will be announced in the Sun-Telegraph tomorrow. A cash prize of $100 and 195 other prizes will be awarded for the period. Hundreds of other prizes, including one of $1,000 in cash are yet to be won. They are H. B. Peebles, of the A. P. Hill Advertising Agency; J. W. Morton, Jr., sales manager of the Sealy Mattress Company, and V. H. McClure, of the W. S. Hill Company.

ZAIN WINNERS TO BE NAMED TOMORROW

Nearly 200 persons will read good news of peculiar personal interest to them in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph tomorrow. They will read that they have won the prize for the third period of the Zain-Ad Test, a fascinating game which this newspaper is conducting, and in which you, too, may win one of the prizes, totaling $15,000 in cash and merchandise.

The first prize to be announced tomorrow will be $100 in cash. At the end of the seven weeks of the test a grand prize of $1,000 in cash will be awarded. The other prizes for the third period, to be announced in the Sunday Sun-Telegraph, number 195. All these prizes are being given by this newspaper, not by the concerns advertised; but some of the concerns are giving special prizes on their own account.

SPECIALISTS BARRED

You do not have to know anything about the technical side of advertising to have a good chance to win, even the $1,000 prize; for professional ad writers and newspaper employes are barred from the test. The prizes are given for bright ideas, and your idea may be expressed in the form of a statement, letter, slogan, jingle or any other form that seems effective to you. You will find elsewhere on this page the rules and a list of the companies about which the ads must be written.

Get acquainted with all of the 39 participating business concerns. There is no better way to get convincing selling points for your advertisements than by making yourself familiar with the products and services to be advertised.

HELPFUL HINTS

In writing about the Mausoleum think of the beauty of this "Westminster Abbey of Pittsburgh" as a resting place for the dead. Its granite, marble and bronze, with concrete walls and foundations resting on rock, make it as secure and time-resisting as the ancient pyramids. You can learn more about it from the Mausoleum Construction Company, Empire Building, Atlantic 3629.

A point to be emphasized in writing about Palmer's Strikalite Matches is that they are the highest quality matches you can buy. They are double-dipped, with safety tips. And the sticks, chemically treated to prevent afterglow, are made of well seasoned pine and will not break or splinter when struck. They are made by the Palmer Match Company, Akron, O.

SELLING POINTS

Here are some selling points for the Graham-Paige motor car, handled by E. S. Carpenter, Inc., 4615 Baum Boulevard, and associated dealers. This automobile has seven bearing crankshaft, four-wheel hydraulic brakes, mechanically operated fuel pump, special intake and exhaust manifold, full pressure lubrication, and extra size water spaces and length of water jacketing. Ride in one.

Cruikshank's Cru-Bro Jelly comes in ten varieties. Order some from your grocer. Cru-Bro products belong on every good table. They are wholesome, appetizing foods, with the delicious natural flavor of the fruits from which they are made. They add to the appetizing quality of dishes with which they are used.

Write each ad on a separate sheet of paper, which should be at least as large as a postal card and preferably commercial letter size. Put your name and address on the back of each sheet and also on the flap of the envelope in which you mail them. SEND ALL ADS TO THE ZAIN AD-WRITING TEST, CARE OF THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH PITTSBURGH, PA.

BILLS VARIED NEXT WEEK

A satire on war and heroics, by Bernard Shaw, "Arms and the Man," is the fourth play which the Theater Guild is offering its Pittsburg subscribers. The Shaw play opens at the Nixon next Monday night. The same cast which acted in "The Guardsman" will appear in "Arms and the Man." It is composed of Lynn Fontanne, Alfred Lunt, Ernest Cossart, Hortense Alden, Elliot Cabot, Jane Wheatley and Hannam Clark.

"Blossom Time," in the Alvin, closes its engagement with afternoon and evening shows today. The house will be closed next week.

The matinee and evening performance of "The Skull," in the Pitt, today ends the engagement. There is no bill for next week.

Marie Valente, European variety star, who will hold stellar position in the Keith-Albee vaudeville program in the Davis next week, will bring a group of song characterizations new to the American stage.

James Hall and Jack Oakie, who appear in support of Clara Bow in "The Fleet's In!" coming to the Stanley next week, were leading men in musical shows before going to Hollywood.

Lon Chaney in "While the City Sleeps," will be the screen feature in the Penn next week. There also will be the usual number of stage acts, presided over by Teddy Joyce.

"The River Pirate," with Victor McLaglen, will be the principal photoplay next week in Loew's Aldine. There will be supplementary Movietone films.

Al Jolson film, "The Singing Fool," will move from the Stanley to the Grand, beginning Monday. The Grand is equipped with Vitaphone, and the picture will be seen and heard there in its entirety. It has been a big hit in the Stanley.

Boob Blake comes to the Academy next week with "Round the Town." Sylvia Pearl, singer, dancer and comedienne, is in the cast.

Dorothy Mackaill is featured in "The Whip," now being shown in the Regent, with sound.

Herbert Rawlinson, film star, with stories of Hollywood life, will be a feature of the vaudeville in the Harris next week.

Among the vaudeville attractions listed for the Sheridan Square next week is Julian Eltinge, noted female impersonator.

DEATH ROLL

Mrs James J. Gannon.

Mrs. Mary Sliph Gannon, 71, wife of James J. Gannon, died at her home, 125 South Atlantic avenue, Thursday night. Mrs. Gannon was a member of St. Lawrence's Roman Catholic Church. Besides her husband, she leaves four daughters: Mrs. C. H. Bossing, of Galesburg, Ill.; Mrs. P. G. Salmon, Miss Elizabeth G. Gannon and Miss Mildred Gannon, all of Pittsburgh, and five sons, James V. Gannon, of Donora, Pa.; Edward J. I., Charles F., Raymond J. and Paul C. Gannon, all of Pittsburgh. High mass of requiem will be sung at St. Lawrence's Church at 9 o'clock Monday morning.

Mrs. Bella Frank.

Mrs. Bella Frank, 51, died yesterday at West Penn Hospital. Born in Russia, she came to Pittsburgh 35 years ago. She was a member of B'Nai Israel Congregation and a member of several Jewish charitable organizations. She leaves a son, a daughter, two brothers and a sister.

GEN. MARTIN WELCOMES BANKERS AT CONVENTION

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 13.—Auditor General Edward Martin yesterday welcomed delegates from five states attending the sixth annual convention of the Community System Association, a bankers' organization. He spoke on the development of the banking business, especially the small loans groups to care for such business not easily handled by the larger banks. J. R. Starkey, of Detroit, Mich., J. Rolf Nugent, of the Russell Sage Foundation, and Maurice W. Moore, of Wheeling, were other speakers. Judge B. S. Honecker, of Wheeling, W. Va., spoke at a banquet last night. The convention closes today.

STOLEN LOVE by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

Bill Leaves Town After Aunt Evvie Asks Him To Forget Joan

HER dark eyes were hard when she came back to the shop some hours later. "They let him go before I got there. Dropped the whole thing. Milt Rosemer didn't know anything about it. He said he didn't know who could have pulled for him, but Begoni's went to the bat—got it all fixed up."

"I told you you were a fool to get mixed up with it."

"Oh, dry up!" she cried in a high, quivering voice.

Her eyes were fixed on the yellow turrets of the Van Fleet house on the hill, just visible through the small, dirty window.

Gerwin followed her brooding gaze. "Old Capt. Horner—saw Bill and the little Van Fleet girl up near the Power House once—together."

"Horner's in his second childhood!" she said contemptuously, and burst into tears.

"Don't think I've failed you—I'm coming—fast—fast as the wind." Joan's love went winging over the miles.

"Joan—wait for me!" the boy panted, as he plowed through the dusty short-cut to the hill.

A night and a day and a night since she had put her slim hands on his shoulders and kissed him and said—"I'll always love you—and I'll never be sorry—ever!" A night, and a day, and a night . . . a thousand years . . . she should be on her way East now, but she wasn't. "She'd never go off that way—I know—true blue—she'll be waiting—"

He struggled through the soft sand, grabbed at the root of a tree. There—he was up on the road. The big old house loomed ahead, yellow against the eucalyptus trees.

By the south hedge he stopped, almost expecting to see her waiting there, dear, faithful, loving Joan, too good, all too good for him. . . .

"I'm not worthy of touching her dusty shoes!" he thought, extravagantly, and his arms ached to hold her, tightly, tightly, never to let her go again.

He crawled through the hole in the hedge, stood looking wistfully across the lawn. Over there, near the garage, he had kissed her first, in lilac time. He remembered the way she had looked, slim and gold against the purple blossoms. A princess out of a fairy tale.

A lump rose in his throat. "Nobody else would ever forgive me—but she will. She won't care. She'll understand. She'll know it wasn't my fault I got mixed up in that dirty Begoni deal—"

He bounded up the front steps, pulled the heavy knocker firmly. Darned if he'd sneak to the back door.

He knocked again.

Miss Evvie Van Fleet answered the door herself.

"I didn't send for you—yet!" she said. "And we have a back door—for tradesmen and servants."

Bill moved forward, as if to enter the hall. "I didn't come to see you," he said, biting each word off shortly and hurled it at her. "I came to see Joan—and that's why I came the front way!"

"We'll discuss that." She motioned him into the long, dark library, and they stood at opposite sides of the old mahogany table, facing each other.

"Joan is gone. I said she's gone. Don't you understand? Gone!"

"No!" he cried. "She wouldn't —she'd never have left me that way—"

"She's gone," Evvie said harshly, "on the Overland. She's half way across the United States by now."

CHAPTER IX.

EVVIE VAN FLEET was looking at him contemptuously, and all the dead and gone Van Fleets were behind her.

He brushed the tumbled hair off his forehead with the back of a grimy hand. "I see," he said. "I'm going. I'm sorry I troubled you."

Evvie's lip curled. "Yes, sneak away. You're quite safe. I can't touch you without harming my niece and myself more than I harm you. Run away—you scum!"

Bill wheeled. It was no dream. It was real. Joan's love was real, and the woman knew it. She had separated them. She had made Joan go—it wasn't Joan—Joan would never have left him. "Be careful what you say—because I'm going to marry your niece. You'll have men in your damned old family whether you like it or not—and I don't like it any better than you do. You sent Joan away—all right—but you can't make her stay after she's of age. You'll see—"

"You'll never hear from her again!"

He laughed. All his confidence was back. Joan was near again. He could see her smiling—her arms outstretched—"I'll always love you—I'll never be sorry—ever!" She had promised. She would wait.

"I'll take a chance on that," he said arrogantly.

Two bright spots burned in Evvie's cheeks. "Six weeks and she'll be wondering what she ever saw in you—a girl like Joan, a Van Fleet and a beauty—and you— Oh, I know girls . . . she won't be thinking of you long—"

"You don't know Joan, then."

"You don't even know where she's gone. I changed my plans. I—"

He shrugged. "No matter I'll find her. I'll find her if I have to trail her for 10 years. And she'll wait for me—till I do."

He picked up his shapeless old cap.

"Wait—" Evvie said. She kept wetting her thin blue lips with the lip of her tongue. "Do you really love her?" she asked in a harsh, unnatural voice.

And now it was Bill who looked contemptuously at her. He just spread his big, rough hands in a hopeless gesture, and turned to the door again.

"Because if you do," she said, breathing fast, "you'll not hound her. You'll let her forget—"

"Let her forget?" he challenged.

"Don't you realize the thing you've done? Don't you? You came here to work for me. I hired you. You took my pay. When my back was turned you made love to my niece. A 17-year-old girl. Carefully brought up . . . sheltered . . . never even knew another boy . . . You took advantage of her youth and ignorance, and I never dreamed. I never dreamed—"

"We loved each other! I'm going to marry her—"

"Yes—marry her. Do—on what, may I ask? You've done your best to ruin her life, now finish the job—that's it. She's only a child—let her forget. I've sent her away where she'll have a new chance. She's young and she's beautiful. Her cousin will do well by her. I don't know what chances she may have. A brilliant marriage, perhaps. Maybe a trip abroad—"

"What's that without love—and she loves me!" His voice rang triumphantly.

"What's love if you aren't willing to sacrifice for it?" countered Evvie. "If you love her you'll give her a chance, not drag her down. If you marry her now, what has she ahead? A shack and a washtub, that's about what. A kitchen stove to cook your meals on, and a couple of squalling kids hanging on to her skirt—that would be the next thing—and she getting sickly and faded, and hating you—"

He shut his eyes. Joan in the house in the hollow. Joan like Eunice, slatternly, weary. No, no —it wouldn't be like that. They would be different. They'd find a way to face poverty, they'd succeed—

"It's no use!" he said. "You'll never separate us—"

"When I try to get her away, to save her from her own folly, you say you'll follow her—marry her—and she's the fool that would do it, because she gave her word. Love! She doesn't know the meaning of the word—she never loved you—she knows it already—"

"You're lying now," the boy said, so dispassionately, so slowly that Evvie could only stop and stare. "But you've said enough that is the truth. You're right—she's too fine for me." He had to speak very low, to keep his voice from breaking, and even then he couldn't go on. He shook his head. "No use—trying to talk. But you needn't worry—I won't spoil her life—"

He pulled the old cap over his eyes. "Get out of the way, can't you?" He pushed her roughly aside. The heavy front door shook the house as it slammed. He was running, hurling himself over rocks and tree trunks, crashing clumsily down the steep hill to the hollow.

Horoscopes

Sunday, October 14

SUNDAY'S horoscope shows keen relish for constructive work in new undertakings which may partake of a mythical or artistic nature, with the faculties turned to the ideal or poetic, expressed inspirationally. Diplomacy is also indicated and there may be some sentimental writing or correspondence.

Those whose birthday it is may have a very active and enterprising year, with new ventures engaging the attention. Or there may be affairs of intrigue or stratagem, concerning either business or personal connections or writings.

A child born on this day may be clever and enterprising, with its talents running to the unusual or eccentric.

Monday, October 15

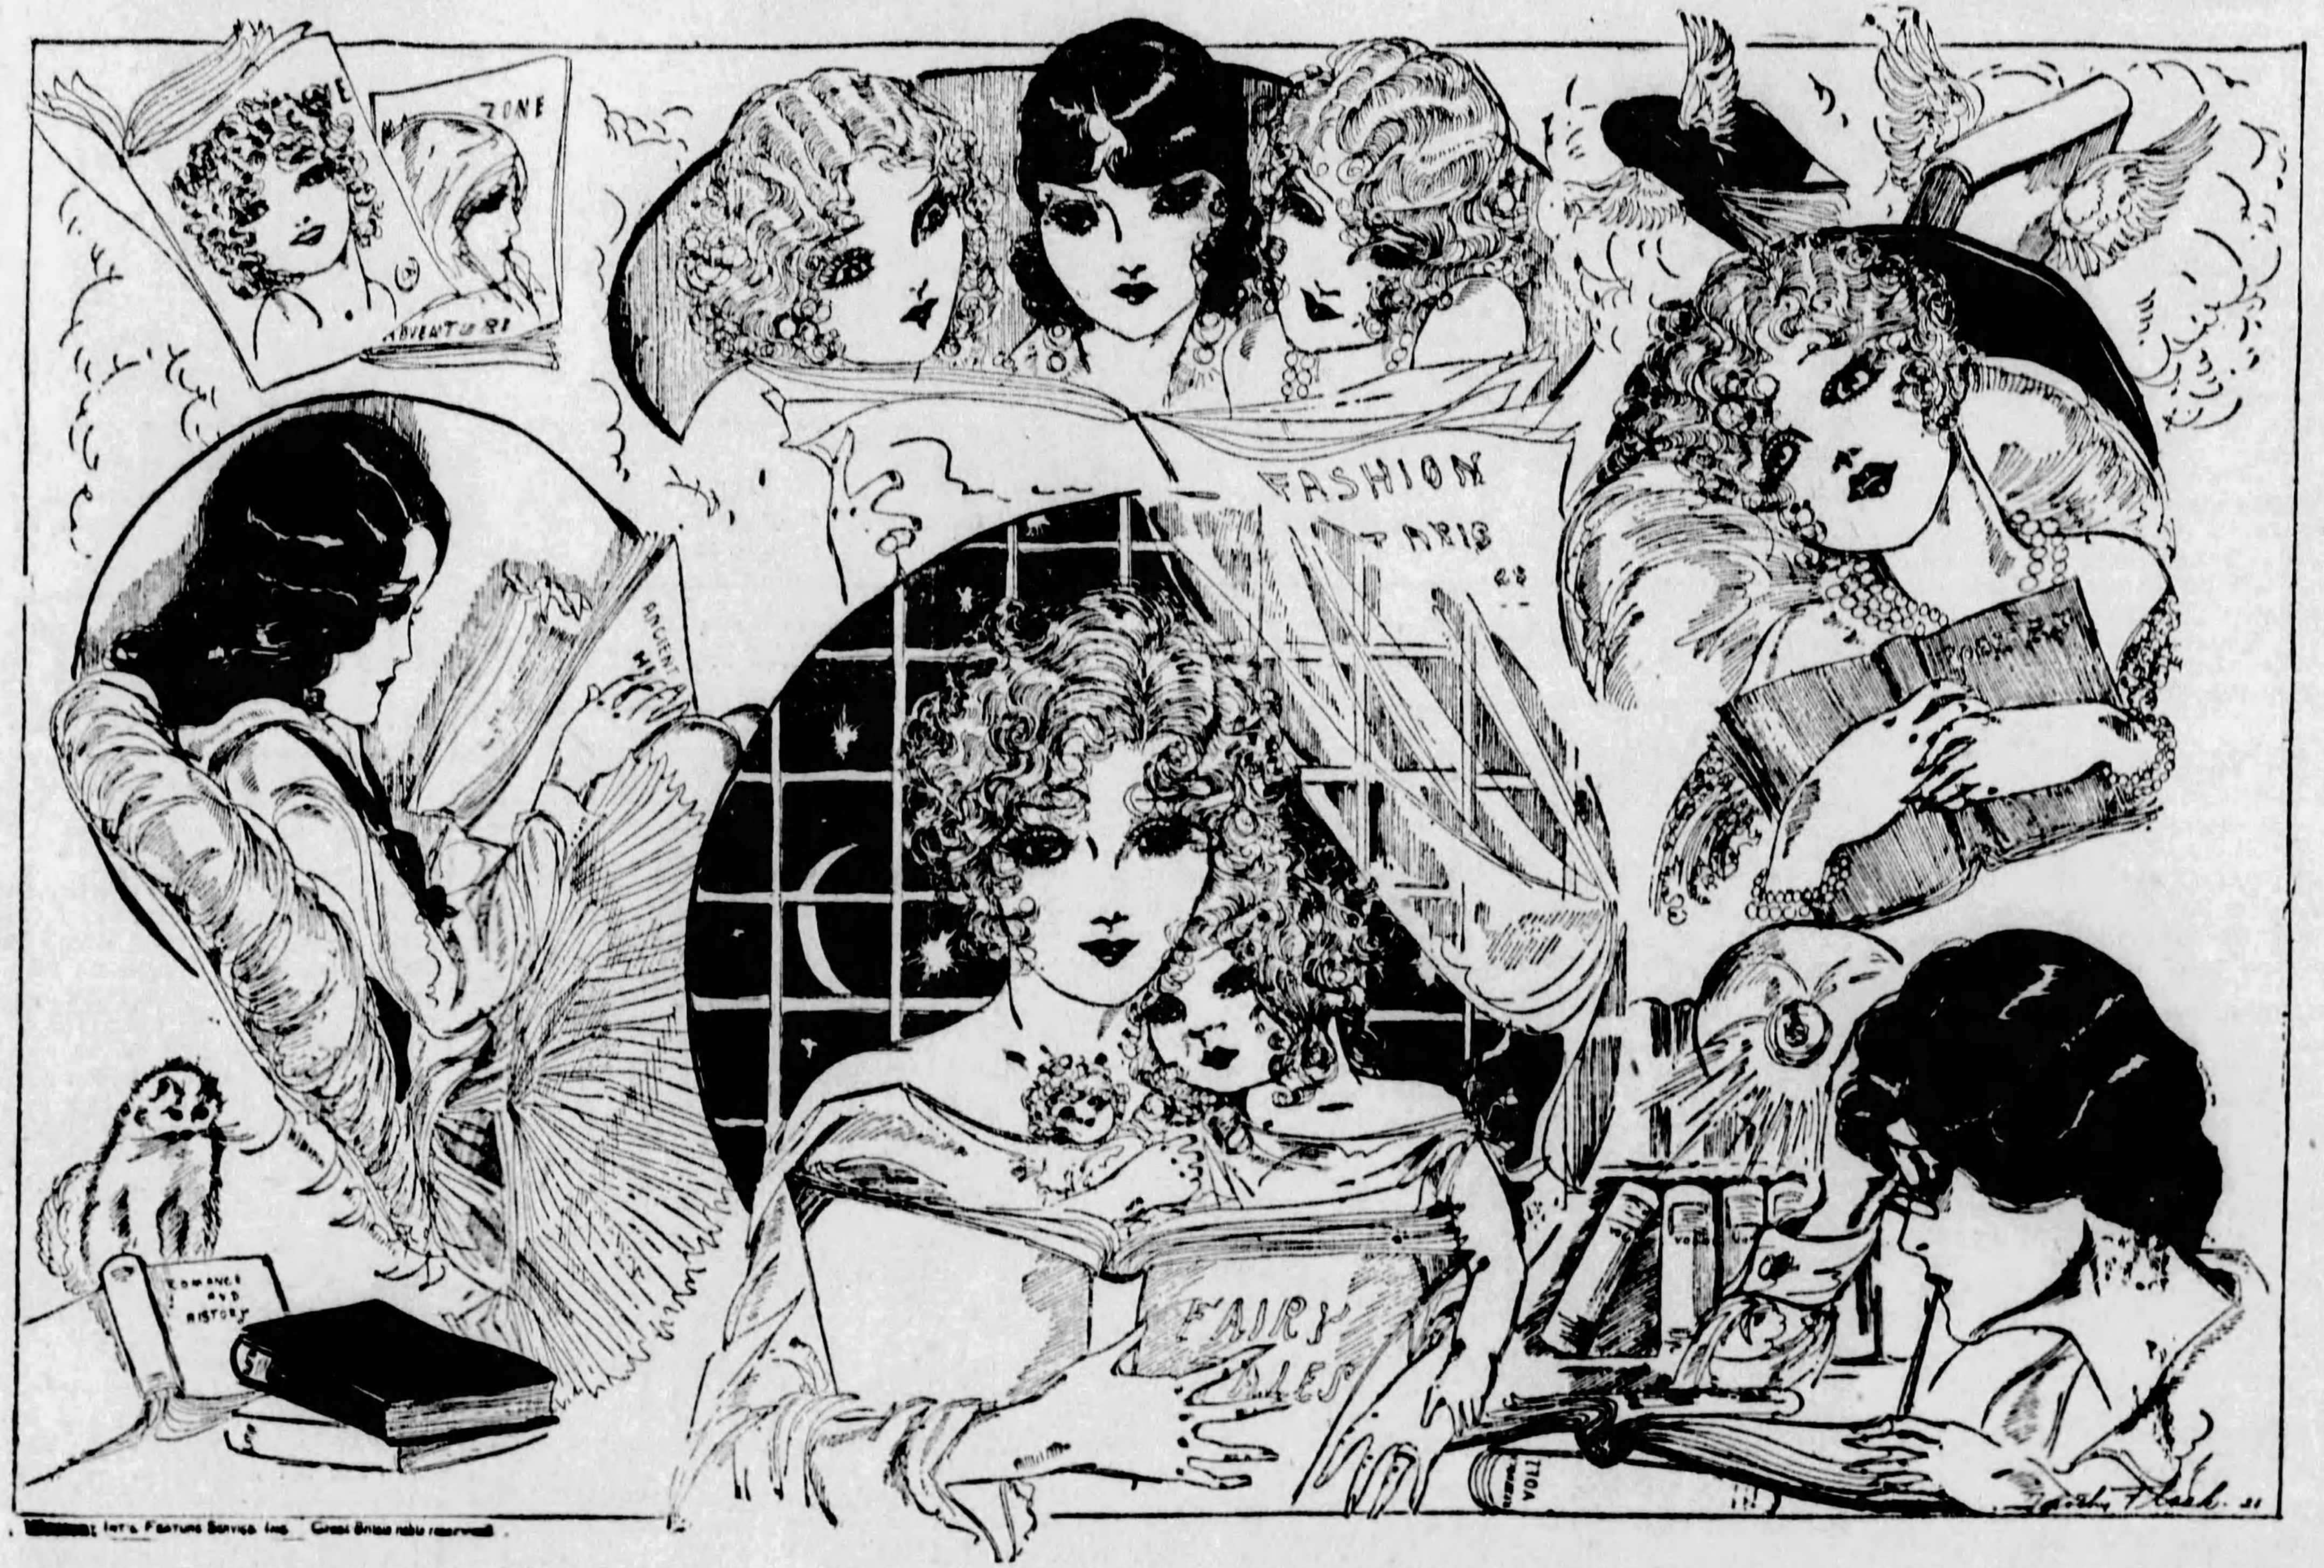
MONDAY'S asarological map holds testimonies of much activity in many diverse lines, with fluctuating fortunes. While business generally will be stimulated, and labor and industry are under favorable sway, yet there are financial hazards, especially attending speculative enterprises. The purely personal affairs carry a note of discord, anxiety and probable upheaval.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a very lively and eventful year, with affairs moving in strong currents, but with attendant financial fluctuations.

A child born on this day may be versatile and clever, but may suffer from unsound judgment and misplaced confidence.

LADIES AND LITERATURE

Drawn by Dorothy Flack



Int'l Feature Service, Inc. Great Britain rights reserved.

"SHOW me your books and I'll tell you what you are"—to paraphrase an old saying. But it's true! Haven't you ever looked around you in the car, or the bus, or the train, or perhaps in the library and noted the books that the girls were reading? Of course you have! Take your own self, for instance! What thrilled you at 16, bored you at 18 and amused you at 20. So there you are!

First you're keen for adventure and thrill to the princes and their "ladyes fair." Then you get sentimental and poetry has all the charms of the world for you. Then comes the day when nothing interests you but fashion books! Oh, how avidly you watch them for fear you'll miss the "LATEST" thing! Then you reach the intellectual stage and plow through weighty tomes that you don't particularly like, but feel you MUST read—because everybody else does.

Why, one can almost tell your age from your books.

But then comes the day when soft little arms creep 'round your neck and you hear "Mums, read me a story!" And out come the fairy tales and that's the reading that you like best of all.

Ladies and literature! They're friends all life through. But take care that you don't become so engrossed in your books that you let Love pass. That would never do!

Prevent Blue Stain

A lump of soda dissolved in the water when rinsing clothes will prevent any blue stain remaining on the garments.

Tar Stains

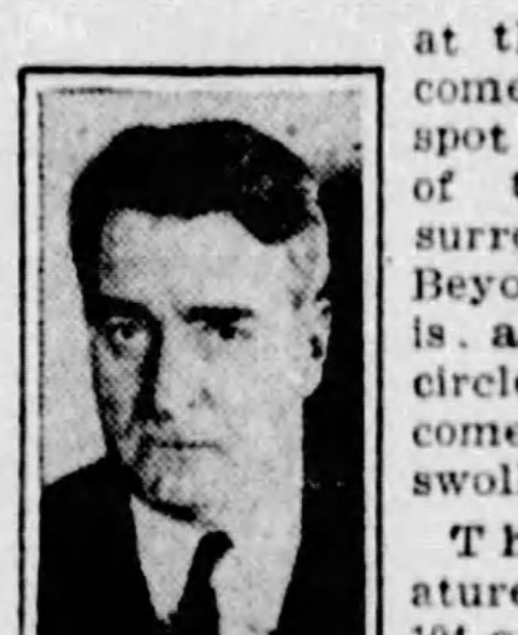
Remove tar stains from rugs and carpets by applying a mixture of equal parts of methylated spirits and ammonia.

How to Keep Well

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.

Anthrax Germs May Lurk in Bristles

ANTHRAX is a serious disease which first shows itself as a red spot on the skin. In due course, what seemed like a pimple at the start, becomes a black spot with a ring of tiny blisters surrounding it. Beyond this ring is a bright red circle and next comes an area of swollen tissue.



DR. COPELAND

The temperature may go to 104 or 105 degrees. In a favorable case it disappears in about 10 days. Unfortunately not every case is a favorable one. As a matter of fact, in a series of cases reported by the New York City Health Department, 31 per cent proved fatal. Any disease which carries off one-third of its victims, is a disease to be dreaded. Any disease that can take your life within three or four days of its attack is terrible indeed. That is what happens in anthrax.

The common gateway of entrance of the anthrax germ is through the skin. Any slight cut or abrasion affords the anthrax germs lodgement and the infection takes place. It has even been proved that germs rubbed on intact skin can pass through the hair follicles.

Anthrax originates in animals and through their hides it reaches man. There are two chief sources of infection from this dread disease. The first is animal hair and articles made from animal hair, such as shaving brushes. The second is animal skins, hides, furs and articles from them.

Regarding this matter here is an interesting statement made recently by a prominent health official: "Many thousands of brushes, however, were made in the smaller factories under very insanitary conditions, throughout the country, thus distributing a large number of contaminated brushes which later infected a large number of persons. One factory is known to have made more than 10 carloads of these brushes, and the damage occasioned by such must have been enormous."

No one knows when or where the next case of anthrax will appear. Unfortunately, the spores of the disease are extremely difficult to kill and, left to themselves, will retain life for many years, indefinitely, in fact. So long as these particular brushes are in existence the menace will be with us.

There is an old saying that "a gentleman shaves himself every morning." There is many a gentleman who does not do this, of course, but I do believe that if you desire to treat yourself like a gentleman, you will not permit your face to be mopped with the neighborhood utensils. You will find a better way to prepare the face, whether you shave every day or once a week.

Answers to Health Queries

J. C. Q.—Is there a cure for psoriasis, and is it a blood or skin condition?

A.—This depends upon the seriousness of the trouble and the length of time it has persisted. It is a skin disease. Careful attention to the diet should bring about improvement.

L. F. Q.—What will take off surplus fat on the legs between knee and ankle?

A. — Exercise — brisk walking, running, climbing, dancing — should all be helpful in this instance.

W. A. Q.—What will cause me to perspire? I do all kinds of work and although my face gets very red and I feel very warm, I do not perspire, and feel that if I did I would feel better.

A.—I would suggest that you have your blood pressure taken—without examination it would be difficult to prescribe for you.

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

Plans for the Final Big Roundup

MY father's voice interrupted Lillian's reading of the typed letter I had brought to him at the request of the red-bearded man in the shack.

"I take it that by 'explosive' he means the paper of Sumerian characters, a copy of which Madge is now decoding."

Allen Drake and Lillian nodded assent and Lillian resumed the reading.

"I can't hold this fellow off more than two or three more nights, or he'll get suspicious of me. Here's what you must do. Get the girl to the farmhouse, pronto, and keep her there. Take the old woman to a hospital and settle the old man in a room near by. They'll do anything the girl tells them to, and her being left alone provides a plausible excuse for her coming to the farmhouse. We'll have to use her for a decoy—sorry, but it can't be helped. Explain as much as you think necessary to make her understand what would be the result of handing over that t.n.t to Sergius, my present side-kick. I don't need to hand you any dope. It's the same thing you have just been working on—they're running around in circles wondering where the birds you pretended to be have flown to."

"The man's clairvoyant!" my father ejaculated, then motioned Lillian to go on.

"Sergius has evolved a little side plan of his own—his type would—to kidnap the girl and hold her for ransom. He's counting on me to help him, so when she comes out to meet us after I give her the message, I'll grab her, put a blanket over her head and skedaddle, ostensibly for the shack. You see, I'm to be the one to meet her and he is to be just a few feet behind me, ready to deal with anybody who might follow her. So keep well out of sight and hearing, yet near enough to tackle him after I make the play of grabbing her. He probably will be following me, and you may be able to get him from behind. Don't one of you make the mistake of coming alone. He's an ugly customer, equally handy with a gat or a knife and heeled with both. Have two able-bodied men anyway. Suggest Drake and the husband of the lady who brings this to you. Of course, you can't spill the beans to anybody else, although Jim is safe for a lookout. While you're tackling Petrov, I'll double back to the farmhouse with the girl. Be sure to have the kitchen door and the opposite one on the side veranda ready to open, as I won't know which side of the house I'd better take. Have all your curtains down and only necessary lights.

"Tell the girl to have a faked bit of dynamite ready to hand me. It must look like the real thing, so that when he grabs it, as he will when I tie her up, he won't have any suspicion of the truth. Also tell her not to be afraid when she hears my especial brand of the owl's hoot next time—she'll know what I mean—but to come out to talk to me at once. I'll tell her then when she's to come to meet me with the faked explosive.

"You won't hear from me again till I give the owl's hoot for the girl. But get her down to the farmhouse today. Petrov's going around in circles because the white-haired millionaire was doing sentry-go around there last night. He can't understand and when his kind of bird can't understand anything there is danger of his running amok."

Lillian finished the reading in the same even tones with which she had begun it, but I noticed that her fingers were slightly tremulous as they folded the paper mechanically.

"He's a thorough bird. I'll say that for him," Allen Drake drawled, "and as his information is no doubt accurate, it strikes me we'd better get busy, don't you think so, Chief?"

There was deference in his voice and look, but my father's face set in sad lines and did not brighten.

"The fellow's right," he said at last. "You and Richard must be the ones to act in this—I should only hamper you in any struggle—but can you imagine how I feel at sending you—remaining away from danger—"

Lillian's hand went over his mouth affectionately.

"Whoever heard of a wounded general being permitted to go out in the front trenches?" she demanded. "Snap out of it, Chief, and lay out the campaign for us. We're waiting for orders."

His eyes brightened perceptibly as he looked up at her.

"The official tonic for tired nerves and despondent hearts," he said fondly. Then he straightened himself to a sitting posture, pushing aside his supporting pillows.

"Two things must be done at once," he said. "Get the Princess Olina here, and bring Richard home."

CAN MAKE HER OWN WARDROBE

Modern Woman With Sewing Machine Independent.

By Evelyn Shackelford,

National Director, White School of Designing.

The modern woman, equipped with the electric sewing machine has eliminated the so-called "best dress." She directs her efforts toward the planning of an attractive wardrobe all the way from the house dress to the formal evening gown.

With the present-day opportunities it is possible for every individual to have a clear understanding of color, line and design to the extent of applying it to her individual needs.

If the principles of color, line and design are properly applied they will not only be effective, but will have individuality and distinction, which will emphasize her personal charm.

Analyze yourself to determine which is your most distinctive feature. If it is the hair, choose color schemes that emphasize it. If the eyes are most attractive, choose color that will emphasize them. Proper color scheme will not only enrich the color of the hair, eyes or skin, but it will force color into the skin, if too highly colored, it will subdue it.

If hands, feet and legs are large or out of proportion, avoid colors that will emphasize them. Color also has its direct effect on one's physical being.

When planning a dress, be sure one color predominates. Brilliant contracts should be added in the form of trimmings or other decorations. Oftentimes the hat will make an effective contrast. However, avoid brilliant contrast in large areas.

Give thought to the significance or expressiveness of colors. For some purposes or individuals dark colors suggest depression. Light colors usually suggest freshness. The brilliant warm colors for some individuals suggest excitement. The dark, warm colors usually suggest dignity, richness and stability. The light warm colors or tints suggest cheerfulness or delicacy and youth.

One must also give careful thought and study to the cosmetic problem. The improper use of same will greatly detract from the garment or one's special charm. Avoid heavy make-up. Choose powder, rouge and lipstick that harmonizes with the natural undercolor of one's skin.

The ambition of every woman is to become a distinctive individual. This can be accomplished by properly applying the rules that govern color, line and design. Avoid artificiality. Every individual has a privilege of wearing many colors by bearing in mind that there are only certain colors that one should wear if one expects to dress effectively.

For the Lovelorn

Hope

DEAR MISS GALE:

How wonderful to have someone for one to come to for advice and comfort! I am so disappointed in life. Sometimes I wonder does it pay to be good. Let me tell you something of the life I live. We are well off and I have everything I wish. But my parents are strict and do not allow me to go out. I am allowed to have boy friends call, but am not allowed to go out. I wouldn't go out on a sneak for anything. I can say I have never had a date or have done anything that would hurt my mother. I am not bitter that my parents do not allow me to go out, but I know I can some day appreciate their kindness to me. I have not met anyone that is interesting, and I do not like to have fellows that may be nice call on me. They do not interest me. I am 19 years old and stay home to help my mother. And life does get lonesome. Miss Gale, I am disappointed in love. I do not believe in it. I was engaged and it was broken. I thought I loved another fellow and found I didn't. Can one meet a nice fellow and he would be almost everything a girl would want, can love come? Marriage would be the only thing that would be best for me, as I do not care to have a good time by petting and selling my reputation. I feel that I am not too young to understand things. Does it pay to be good, stay home and wait patiently? Waiting for your answer, I am,

HOPE.

It certainly pays to be good, my dear, but I do think your parents should allow you a bit more freedom to enjoy the companionship of girls and boys of your own age. Don't let yourself get bitter. That repels people and you will never have any friends. Life is not nearly so dismal as you seem to think it is. The darkness is all in yourself, not life. Try to be more cheerful and life will be much sweeter.

Undecided

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have been reading your lovelorn column for several months and think you give wonderful advice. I wish you could help me as I think I need some advice. I am a girl 14 years of age and I like a boy who is 13 years old. But he is jealous of me, and I am jealous of him. We are always fighting. Now there is another boy who goes to my school. He likes me and I don't care for him as he is foolish and acts simple. When the first boy sees me talking to the other boy he gets mad and says I don't like him anymore Now I can't talk to this boy that goes to my school as the other boy gets mad. And yet I think this first boy goes with another girl besides me. Now I wish you would give me some advice through the Sun-Tele. I am

UNDECIDED.

My dear little girl, you are years too young to be worrying about whether this boy or that really likes you. Accept these boys as school friends and don't worry about jealousy.

Unhappy

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am coming to you for advice because I know you can help me as you helped many others. I am a young man of 28 and in love with a girl of 17. She is good looking and she also seems to care a great deal for me. Do you think I am too old for her?. I am an engineer. I make good money. She is willing to marry me, but sometimes I think in later years she would regret it and wish she had married someone younger. Please, Miss Gale, help me. Best wishes to you and your readers. I am

UNHAPPY.

She is too young to be sure of herself, Unhappy. If you really love her you will wait for a while before asking her to marry you.

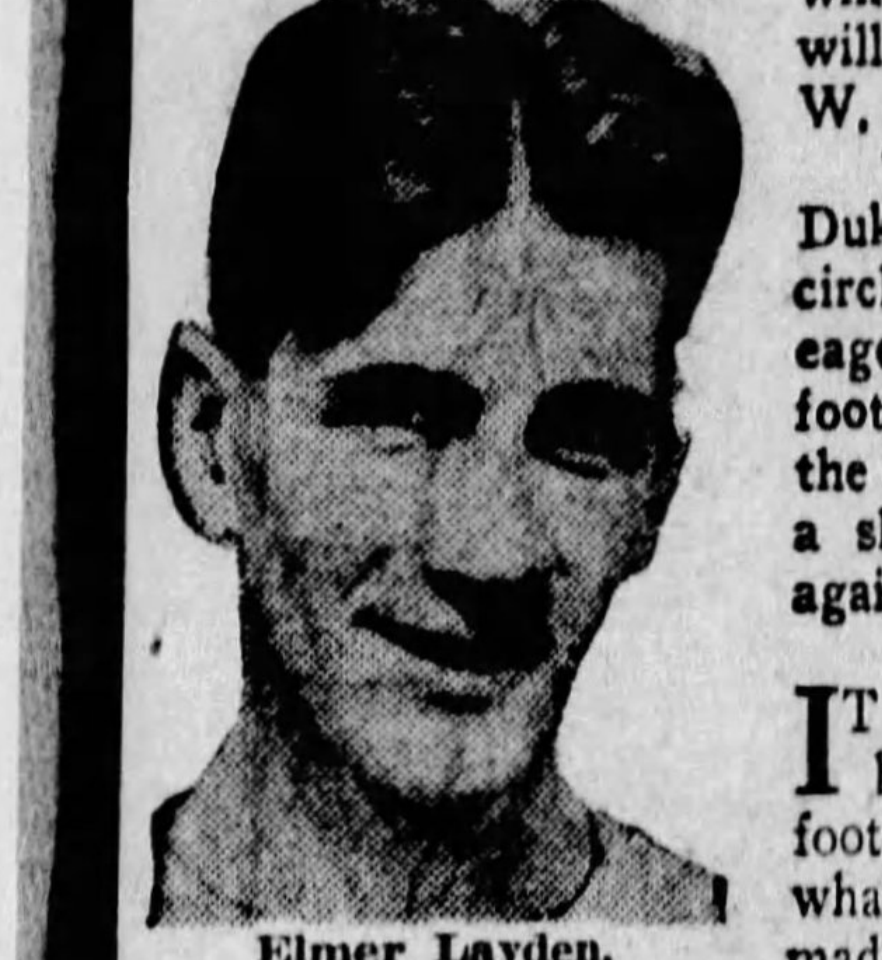
Rising Dukes Get Real Test Today Against Big-Time Opponents — Swetonic Says Spencer Will Help Pirates—Pie Traynor Believed Signed—Old Doc Crandall Active.

WHILE Pitt and West Virginia are fighting it out in football at the Stadium today, and Carnegie Tech is meeting Thiel at Forbes Field, a generous share of local gridiron interest will center around the game in Washington, Pa., in which the Duquesne University team will go into action against the forces of W. & J.



Elmer Layden.

The outcome of this venture of the Dukes into the big-time intercollegiate circles of this region wil lbe awaited eagerly. Not only Duke rooters, but football followers in general throughout the district are anxious to see how good a showing the Bluff boys can make against such strong opposition.

IT WILL be the real test of the Pittsburgh lads under their improved football system, a test that will show what progress Coach Elmer Layden has made since his coming last year in developing a team to put the Bluff institution in a higher gridiron class than it occupied prior to his taking charge.

For the first time, the Dukes will be playing under an agreement requiring them not to use freshmen in their lineup, but in spite of that there is good ground for the confidence that they will acquit themselves creditably against their supposedly much stronger opponents.

THIS is not the first time that Duquesne has met W. & J. in football, for there was a time when the Bluff school had a team that competed with the Presidents and other strong elevens in this region.

However, 26 years have elapsed since the Dukes last met W. & J. They played two games against Wash-Jeff in the old days, when the local school was known as Pittsburgh College of the Holy Ghost. The first meeting took place on October 16, 1897, W. & J. winning, 24 to 0, and the second contest was played on November 15, 1902, when the Presidents won again, 49 to 0.

IT WILL not be surprising if the appearance of the Duquesne team today without a freshman player in the lineup leads eventually to the permanent adoption by the university of the rule barring first-year students from varsity teams. It is understood that, in line with the progressive athletic policy of the school in all other directions, the matter of putting in the freshman rule has been under consideration for some time and that the regulation probably will be adopted within a year or two. The improvement already in evidence at Duquesne appears to be only the beginning of a forward and upward drive that will ultimately make the university's football teams equal to the best turned out by any college of its size in the country.

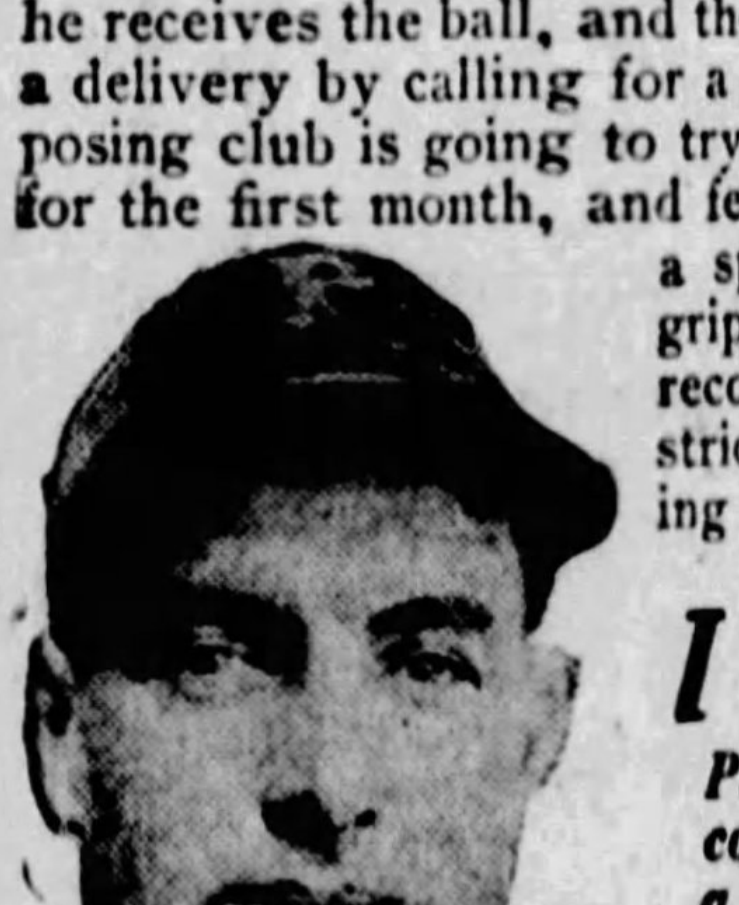
Steve Swetonic.

STEVE SWETONIC, the North Side boy, who was rated by many good baseball judges as the best pitcher in the American Association this year, and who followed up a great season by pitching three of the Indianapolis club's four victories over the Rochester International League champions in the little world series, has returned home for the winter.

That Swetonic will be in the major leagues next year is practically a certainty. The most popular guess is that he will become a Pirate, but if the Pittsburgh management does not make a deal for his acquisition he probably will land with some other team in the fast set, as at least four clubs are known to be after him. The Yankees wanted to buy him a couple of months ago, but negotiations were called off when the New York club refused to give up a couple of players whom Indianapolis wanted as part of the purchase price. Swetonic is generally given credit for having been the main pitching factor in winning both the A. A. pennant and the post-season series for Indianapolis.

SWETONIC says the Pittsburgh club made a wise move in buying back Catcher Roy Spencer from the Indians for next year, and predicts that the backstop will be of great help to the Bucs in the National League race of 1929.

"Spencer was easily the class of the American Association catchers," said Steve. "He is a great receiver to pitch to, gets his throws away quickly and accurately regardless as to where he receives the ball, and the only time he makes a pitcher waste a delivery by calling for a pitch-out is when he figures the opposing club is going to try the hit-and-run game. He hit .370 for the first month, and fell off later only because he suffered a split hand that prevented him from gripping a bat properly. After his hand recovered he began to hit in his normal stride again and hit far above .300 during the last two months of the race."



Pie Traynor.

IT IS believed that Capt. Pie Traynor is the first and only Pirate regular who has signed a contract for the 1929 season. As a general rule, President Barney Dreyfuss signs a number of his players in the fall, but this year he has appeared to be in no hurry to get his men in line for the season to come. When asked if he had begun the round-up for 1929, the Pirate owner replied: "I have asked only one player to sign, and he has done so." The local magnate did not mention the player's name, but as Traynor was the last Pirate to leave the city and had a conference with President Dreyfuss before departing for St. Louis to attend the final world series games, it seems a safe guess that Capt. Pie is the lone Buccaneer under contract.

GROVER ALEXANDER has not been the only pitching star of the long ago to fling defiance in the face of Father Time this year by appearing in a post-season series with something out of the ordinary at stake. Out on the far Western slope old Otis (Doc) Crandall is hurling for Sacramento in the play-off with San Francisco for the Pacific Coast League pennant. Indeed it was his fine rescue work, together with the batting of ex-Pirate Roy Rohwer, that enabled Sacramento to win the second game of the string on Thursday.

Crandall once was one of the best-known figures in the

BIG OPPORTUNITY FOR LOCALS

The Dukes have had a hard, uphill fight to gain a place in the football limelight against the established reputations of Pitt, Tech, Wash-Jeff and others in this section, but finally appear to be coming into their own. The picture above depicts Capt. Buff Donnelli knocking at the door of opportunity, the Wash-Jeff game today. This rather reverses the usual order of things, for 'tis written that it is Opportunity that knocks.

DUKES WIN MAJOR RECOGNITION

Duquesne University breaks into the ranks of the major college football elevens of the Tri-state district this afternoon when it plays Wash-Jeff on the latter's field at Washington, Pa. Both teams are unbeaten in their two games to date. A good showing for the Dukes will lead to battles in the seasons to come with Pitt and Carnegie Tech and a three-cornered fight for city supremacy.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

THE melancholy days certainly are here. They've already fired Bill McKechnie as manager of the Cardinals for next year because he failed to play the outfield and shag the flies that Babe and Lou sent out with home run tags on them.

Some fellows write news and others go by the name of Philip Space. You know, when things get dull they write anything to fill up the allotted inches. Right now, Wilkinsburg Will is good copy. With everything else quieted down, they'll be able to fire and hire him a dozen times before it's time for him to take his Cardinals south again in the spring.

M'KECHNIE made only one mistake during the past season and that was winning the pennant. It cost him a lot of sleepless nights and a flock of gray hairs. And the series compounded the situation. If he had finished in third

PANTHERS, SKIBOS, DUKES PLAY

By JESS CARVER.

PITT, and West Virginia, time honored rivals in many branches of collegiate athletic endeavor, will open the first volume of Pittsburgh's six tome bookshelf of gridiron classics in the Pitt Stadium today. The contest is the first major struggle of the season here and ranks as one of the leading encounters in the East.

Despite traditional rivalry that exists between the two institutions, and the color that usually lends itself to this struggle, when most all of West Virginia swarms down on this city, the game is almost forced to a fifty-fifty break in the day's importance with another district battle, in which Elmer Layden's rollicking Dukes oppose Wash-Jeff at Washington, Pa. There is as much interest and speculation as to the outcome of this game as there is connected with the West Virginia-Panther struggle locally.

Carnegie Tech will play its final warm-up tussle, one that may turn out to be more strenuous than is

ROBINSON SELECTS MAX AS SUCCESSOR

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(INS.)—Max Carey, outfielder who has captained the Brooklyn Robins for the past two years, may manage the team next season if the club's board of directors will permit Wilbert Robinson to relinquish the managerial reins and devote his time to executive duties in his capacity as president. This possibility resulted today from a statement by Robinson in which he said that he was ready to vacate the managerial post in favor of a younger man, preferably Carey.

Robinson is still under contract as president and manager. He said his statement was prompted by "internal dissension" among the stockholders.

Chicago Grid Center Of Nation Today

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—With a record-smashing crowd of 120,000 to 125,000 viewing the spectacle, the Navy and Notre Dame will battle on Soldier Field today in one of the outstanding gridiron struggles of the year.

While Notre Dame and the Navy are locked in combat down on the lake front, Chicago and Iowa and Ohio State and Northwestern will open their Western Conference championship race with games on Stagg Field and in Dyche Stadium, Evanston. This trio of combats will make Chicago the football metropolis of the nation, for a day at least, with a total attendance of probably 200,000 for the three games.

BOTH TEAMS BEATEN

No matter if Notre Dame wallops the Middies, or the Middies take a fall out of Knute Rockne's warriors, the combat will attract the greatest throng that ever witnessed a football game in America.

That is quite a reversal of what should happen in these days of competitive sport. Nobody, as a rule, wants to see a loser. Yet, today this tremendous throng will file into the massive stadium on Chicago's lake front to witness two losers in action—Notre Dame overwhelmingly licked once and the Navy twice. Their records may be scarred, but their glory and appeal remains undimmed.

The large reason for this situation is that the Notre Dame eleven is to football what Jack Dempsey was to the ring. Whenever a Notre Dame team, good or just fair, goes into action—you get action. Rockne sees to that.

The Navy outfit arrived in a drizzling rain that all but soaked the playing surface at Soldier Field. This was covered by a heavy tarpaulin to protect it from a downpour. The rain did not deter the Middies from going through a limbering-up warm-up and if the zest with which they ran signals is any criterion, they did not indicate any fear of Notre Dame.

Instead of bringing his warriors to Chicago yesterday, Rockne decided to keep them in South Bend overnight.

Rockne considers his team ready to go on the field against all opposition. Billy Dew will be at fullback for Notre Dame with Niemiec and Chevigny at the halves and little Jack Brady calling the signals.

CARDS MAILED CHECKS FOR LOSERS' SHARE

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis has mailed out checks totaling $117,526.25 to the St. Louis Cardinals as their share of the world series receipts. Each Cardinal will receive $1,700 less than was paid each of the winning Yankees.

BOSTON TOPS DUKE U.

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Little Paddy Creedon scampered and squirmed on the gridiron at Fenway Park yesterday and, with his backfield mates, Smith and Weston, gave Boston College a 19-to-0 victory over the "Blue Devils" of Duke University. A holiday crowd of 20,000 gathered to watch the conquerors of the Navy combat the much-heralded forward-passing attack of the boys from North Carolina.

The Boston team, coached by Joe McKenny, the youngest college coach in the country, showed power on the offense and defense, and the Dukelets passed often and well, but to little ultimate advantage. They made 15 first downs, but could not cross the goal line. Duke is coached by Jimmy DeHart, former Pitt star.

JOHNSON TO GET RELEASE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Walter Johnson, for many years the idol of Washington baseball fans, is expected to return to manage the American League team for which he pitched for 21 seasons.

While negotiations were not complete, Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club, said he and Johnson had talked over the matter, and that if the Newark Club of the International League, which Johnson managed last year, would release him, he would sign him.

At the same time Paul Block, owner of the Newark club, which Johnson managed, said he would not stand in the way of Johnson coming to Washington.

If Johnson is taken on to pilot the Senators, he will succeed Stanley Harris, who, in the past five years, led the Washigton team to one world series victory and two American League pennants. Harris was relieved as manager by Griffith two weeks ago when a three year contract expired.

ETNA HIGH HOLDS ATHLETIC RALLY

A successful booster meeting to raise funds to defray the expenses of the athletic teams of Etna High School was held last evening in the school auditorium. The school boasts 400 students and has 45 players on its football squad, which has won its first three games, all played away from home.

Among the speakers were Attorney John D. McIntyre, who coached Etna's first football team; L. A. Donaldson and Harry Keck and Tom Birks of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph sports staff. Dan Simmers and Mrs. Frank Fink, soloists; Mrs. Consuelo Metzger, violinist; the Red Arrow Quartet; Albert Berg, Jr., boy banjoist, and the high school orchestra entertained.

BARNSTORMERS DEFEAT HOMESTEAD GRAYS, 6-4

The American League barnstormers set down the Homestead Grays, 6 to 4, at Forbes Field yesterday afternoon in another game of their long series. William Hunnefield, White Sox star, was the big gun of the day, getting a homer and a triple.

or fourth place, he could have skidded by with all the personal comfort of a flock of other guys. A lot of grief goes with being a champion.

All of the second-guessers in the world could not have stopped the slaughter of the Cards by the demon Yankee sluggers. The wolves ought to take a tumble to themselves and lay off our Will. He's all cut and wants to get up.

THE tip is out that Pitt is anxious to break off football relations with West Virginia and that today's tilt in the Stadium may be the last between 'em for some time. That's too bad, if the dope is correct. Natural rivals are not so plentiful that they can afford to be tossed off so readily, and the Mountaineers have been good sports and game, hard-fighting guys in their meetings with Pitt. Say it ain't so, you Pittites; say it ain't so!

Another tip is that, with Pitt and Tech playing all of their home games in the Stadium beginning next fall, Duquesne University is going to break into Forbes Field and schedule some big games. Pitt and Tech both scaled the heights at Forbes Field, and, now that they are through there, the Dukes could make no wiser move than to follow in their early footsteps.

RED MASON is back from Chicago with a bunch of new King's English slang from Bill Thompson's village. Get him to tell you the one about the mugg who ate a poultice of ham and eggs.

One good thing about having only one big league club in Pittsburgh is that we do not have to stand for a spring or fall city series. Just when the Yankees proved baseball was on the level by knocking off the world series in four straight games for the second year in succession the Cubs and White Sox proved it was crooked by going the limit of seven siestas in Chicago.

THEY'RE still picking on poor Kiki Cuyler. Papers always print all the dirt they can get on him. Even our own headline writer says: "Cuyler Leads in Thefts." You have to read the story to learn that he really did something meritorious in leading the National League in base-stealing for the season.

Motor Square card for Monday night consists of eight boxers, a southpaw and a guy named Smithhammer. Wotta roundup!

BENNY LEONARD, new local hockey club owner, thinks he already has the league championship on ice. And he wasn't a southpaw, either, mentally or physically, when he was fighting.

LOCAL ICEMEN GET PLAYER OPTION

The officials of the Pittsburgh Hockey Club today received a letter from Manager Odie Cleghorn, who is in Montreal, advising that he has obtained an option giving him first right to purchase any player that the Toronto club, or Les Canadiens, may decide to discard.

Toronto has 24 players on its list, and must dispose of nine of them before hte season opens. Les Canadiens also have considerable excess material and Cleghorn is hoping of getting a serviceable player or two out of the group.

Manager Cleghorn will leave for Toronto tomorrow night to attend a meeting of the league Monday.

FALCON WESTMORELAND CUP RACE WINNER

GREENSBRUG, Pa., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—The third annual Columbus Day steeplechase of the Western Pennsylvania hunts was held yesterday on the estate of George R. McNary, near here. Members of the Westmoreland, Rolling Rock, Sewickley, Pittsburgh and Indiana hunts participated.

The Westmoreland Cup race, two miles over brush, was won by Falcon, entered by the Genesee Valley hunt, with Paul Payne, Rochester, N. Y., up. Piccardy Boy, entered by William B. Schiller, Pittsburgh, with John Bisel, Pittsburgh, up, was second. Night Hawk, entered by Richard Eagan, Pittsburgh, with James Hamilton, Pittsburgh, up, was third.

The three-mile race over natural hunting country was won by Santley, entered by H. K. Dinn, Pittsburgh, and with George McCook, Pittsburgh, up. Merry Widow, owned and driven by James Hamilton, Pittsburgh, was second. Red Fire, owned by Mrs. George McNary, with Richard Eagan, Pittsburgh, up, was third.

Paul Payne was thrown by his mount, but was not seriously hurt.

Heilmann, Daddy, Quits Stars For One Day

The American League stars, who played a series of games with the Homestead Grays at Forbes Field, went into yesterday's game without the services of Harry Heilmann, famed slugger of the Detroit Tigers.

Heilmann was called home on the previous day. When the other players reached the Schenley Hotel last night a telegram from Heilmann awaited them. It was addressed to Bill Sweeney, Detroit first baseman, and read:

"Baby girl born at midnight. Everything fine. Will join you in Columbus."

DORMONT VICTOR; DUKES TIE

ALLEGHENY HIGH SCHOOL, determined to remain in the fight for Section 2, City League honors, yesterday took over Carrick High School to the tune of a 6-to-0 score on the Brighton Road gridiron. Bernhart registered the only touchdown of the game. The extra point attempt was blocked.

Perry High School won over Fifth Avenue, 16 to 0, while Peabody High set down South High by a 22-6 margin.

Dormont High came through to beat Bridgeville, 22 to 6; Washington triumphed over Duquesne, 13 to 0; Etna walloped Stowe, 20 to 0; and Shady Side Academy played a scoreless tie with Duke Preps, in a few of many other games.

COMER KILLED IN AUTO RACE

SALEM, N. H., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—A carnival crowd of 25,000 persons gathered here for the 200-mile automobile sweepstakes on the Rockingham Speedway yesterday saw tragedy stalk among the roaring motors, snuffing out the life of one racing driver and sending two others to a hospital with severe injuries.

Fred Comer, of Los Angeles, died before he reached a Lawrence hospital, after the Boyle valve special he was driving hurtled into the air on a steep bank and plunged into the inner field. A few minutes later, four cars piled up directly in front of the grandstand, and when the wreckage was untangled an ambulance hurried Jimmy Gleason, of Boston, away to a Lawrence hospital. A third accident, occurring a few laps later, sent Dave Evans, of San Antonio, Tex., to the hospital.

big leagues, not only as a pitcher but as a batsman who was was good enough to be used often as a pinch-hitter. The average fan, asked to guess on Crandall's age, would pick him to be from 45 to 50, yet, according to the records, Doc will not be 40 until next Wednesday. He played only three years of minor league ball at Frankford and Cedar Rapids before joining the Giants in 1908, so that he was only 19 when he broke into the big show. He was with the St. Louis Federal League club when that organization died after the 1915 season and then he drifted to the minors. Until two months ago he was manager of the Wichita (Kan.) club in the Western League and then joined the Sacramento outfit. Despite his years he is still rated a good pitcher and carries the same old sock in his bat.

Otis Crandall.

FROM New Salem, Pa., Robert B. Spackman writes: "After following the late Yankee-Cardinal affair, it seems to me that the rules of the grand old game require some alteration. Do you remember when we were kids and someone would bat the ball over the fence? Remember the rule 'Over the fence is out?' Why not apply a rule like that to Mr. Ruth and Mr. Gehrig?"

Pitt, Tech, Dukes in Action

generally expected by meeting Thiel College at Forbes Field. The Lutherans are invading this city for the second time this fall and what is more, they are coming here determined to make themselves as pesky for the Plaid as they were when they battled Pitt in the opening game of the year.

Pitt has already been established a favorite over the Mountaineers. This is a break for Rodgers and a handicap to Sutherland. The West Virginians, have a hard time making a good showing in this city, have already been defeated. They have also scored a pair of victories in Pitt, however, they will be facing an eleven more powerful than any of the three played to date.

PITT LINEUP CHANGED

The Pitt starting lineup may be changed a bit from the one that responded to the opening whistle against Bethany. Jess Crissinger is slated to replace Ruby DiMeolo at left guard. Ruby was somewhat battered in the Bison game and as Crissinger is a strong defensive man, Coach Sutherland can use him instead of the more experienced DiMeolo without materially weakening the lineup. The remainder of the Pitt lineup will be intact, with Capt. Fox at the other guard, Tully and Mike Getto at the tackles, Guarino and Jo Jo Donchess at the ends and Parkinson, Edwards, Uansa and Josh Williams in the backfield.

The West Virginia lineup is uncertain until game time, though it is expected that the Mountaineers will lineup in this fashion. Lang and Vacherasse ends, Scott and Brewster at the tackles; Meisel and Gordon at the guards, Clint Carrico at center and Stumpp, M. Glenn, A. Glenn and Capt. Clarence Keefer in the backfield.

The Dukes are meeting Wash-Jeff on an equal basis as far as the eligibility of players is concerned. Taking the lead among the other Class B schools in the section, the Dukes today will play their first big time game with the freshmen rule in force, and by doing so, rate a place in the same gridiron sphere with their opponents, Pitt, Tech, West Virginia, Penn State and other major college and university elevens. It is a red letter day for the Dukes.

DUKES NO SETUP

The tendency to disparage the Dukes and regard the games merely a warm-up for the Presidents is in for a terrific kick in the chin. Duquesne will put a strong defensive aggregation on the field against the Red and Black, and one with a well planned attack, the aerial department of which is certain to cause the Wash-Jeff defense trouble. The big handicap that the Dukes must face will be lack of experience, especially against major competition.

Coach Kerr of Wash-Jeff has taken the game seriously, and declared yesterday that he held slight hope of getting by with an easy game. To Andy and the Prexy gridders, a victory by any margin will be highly acceptable. The Dukes have been well scouted, and the fear inspired in the Washington camp by their fine showing against the husky St. Thomas eleven a week ago is far from slight.

Graduate Manager of Athletics John Holohan has arranged for a special train to transport some of the 3,000 Duke followers who have purchased tickets for the game and who will trek out of here today for Washington. This is the largest crowd that has ever accompanied a Duquesne eleven out of town.

Those fans who attend the Tech-Thiel struggle will see one of the cleverest halfbacks in the district cavorting in the backfield for the Lutherans. Stan Berkman, Thiel captain, had Pitt goofy with his accurate forward passing and is expected to trouble the Tartans as much. He and Howard Harpster, the Plaid leader, are rated as the best forward pass artists in the district. Berkman is also a fine line plunger and a generally effective ball carrier. He punts and drop kicks, calls the plays and acts as safety man on the defense.

TECH STARS INJURED

Leonard Schumpp, regular guard and Howdy Eyth, halfback, at Tech will not see action today, both being on the hospital list. Schumpp has a strained ligament in his shoulder and Eyth a twisted ankle. Their places will be taken by Yernia and Glenn Moorehead.

Other important tri-state games include the Geneva-Waynesburg Conference clash at Waynesburg; the Grove City-John Carroll fracas at Grove City; Westminster's meeting with St. Francis at Greensburg and the Bucknell-Penn State game at State College.

Allegheny is in Hanover, N. H., for the annual battle with Dartmouth. West Va. Wesleyan plays Concord State at Beckley and Davis Elkins, after a week's rest, engages Bluefield Collegiate Institute at Bluefield.

CALLAHAN BEATEN

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Jimmy Owens, of Oklahoma, scored a newspaper decision in 10 rounds over Mushy Callahan, junior welterweight champion, here last night. The title was not at stake.

Benny Leonard May Second Goldstein

BENNY LEONARD, retired undefeated lightweight champion of the world, may help to second Phil Goldstein in the latter's bout with Johnny Mellow at Motor Square Garden Monday night. Benny, who was here the early part of this week to close the deal whereby he took over the local hockey club of the National Professional League, plans to return to dispose of some other details and has assured Manager John Hernon of the Garden that if he is able to get here in time he will be with Phil. He has taken an interest in the local Jewish lightweight's career after having seen him box around New York.

Goldstein will arrive from New York today and will work out in the Garden tomorrow afternoon. Mellow, who will get in from Detroit, also will have a brief session in the Garden gym, and so will Tony LaRose, of Cincinnati, who meets Rudy Ceder in the other eight-round bout of the double windup card. Russell Verge, Denver Leonard and Max Ziff, local boxers, will help them loosen up.

The Garden reports a larger advance sale for Monday night's show than for any since the memorable trio of battles between Tommy Crowley and Goldstein, indicating that Goldstein has a large home following that is anxious to see him in action again after his long absence, during which he has been boxing in other cities.

Promoter Jim McGirr, of McKeesport has signed Jackie Rodgers, Negro bantamweight, to box Howard Mayberry, of Donora, in one of the two 10-round battles that will feature his show next Thursday night. Johnny Carey, of Erie, and Allen Beatty, of McKeesport, welterweights, will clash in the top number.

Lou Brown, former partner of Jimmy Bronson in the management of boxers in New York, who quit the game recently to confine himself to his moving picture business, has been unable to resist the lure and is back building up a new young stable of his own. He has signed Herman Folins, the amateur, of Ambridge, to box professionally under his management.

The first of the series of fall and winter amateur boxing shows at the P. A. A. will be held this evening. It will be an inter-city affair between Pittsburgh and Cleveland.

Baby Joe Gans meets Billy White of Jersey City in New York tonight.

Six bouts make up the card for an amateur boxing show under the auspices of the North Side A. C., in German-Masonic Hall next Thursday night.

JANVRIN CAPTURES PT. CHESTER MARATHON

PORT CHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Albertt Janvrin, of New Rochelle, N. Y., running under the N. Y. U. insignia, won the fourth annual marathon race from New York City to this place yesterday afternoon. His time was 2 hours 57 minutes and 37 seconds.

Clarence De Mar, of Melrose, Mass., was second in 3 hours 1 minute and 40 3-5 seconds. Hugo Cenprinn, of Brooklyn, was third, and Pressey Wyer, of Monarch A. C., Toronto, Canada, was fourth.

SEALS WIN IN SERIES

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Rallying in the eighth and ninth innings to make five runs and take the lead, the San Francisco Seals defeated Sacramento, 7 to 4, in the third of their seven-game series for the Pacific Coast League championship, here yesterday.

Exhibit of
Special Cars
Hotel Schenley

THAT the new Franklin Airman Limited would instantly arouse throughout the entire nation a feeling of deep respect for its amazing performance and admiration for its distinctive beauty and delightful interiors, was a foregone conclusion. For the new Airman Limited is first to present Luxurious Fast Travel.

And now, for those individualists who wish their motors to express their own flair and taste, by arrangement with the Franklin Automobile Company, an exhibition of superlatively beautiful special Airman Limited models is announced.

The salon will be the first forecast of 1929—interiors of the very newest creation in both pattern and design are to be shown for the first time. Motor cars reflecting the European vogue in color and appointments, fabrics and patterns and running the gamut of every motoring requirement—from the chauffeur or owner-driven sport car, to the motor specially designed for formal social functions—will make the exhibit one of especial interest.

The salon will be held at the Hotel Schenley, October 13, 15, 16, 17, and well merits the attention of all discriminating motorists.

Ach!

MARY LEWIS

"Carry Me Back to Old Virginny" and other American songs so pleased Berlin in Mary Lewis' German opera debut that Mary had to give five encores. Her concert, a Berlin social event, was one of four languages.

HOME LEFT TO DAUGHTER

The will of David Faulk, of Ross township, probated today, leaves his home to his daughter, Mrs. Alice M. Davis; $1,200 to his son, John H. Faulk, and gives the remainder of an $11,000 estate to the two in equal shares. The son is named executor.

Emma G. Walker, of Carnegie, bequeathed the income of a $7,000 estate to her sister, Mrs. Lyde G. Gleim, of Tacoma, Wash. At her death the estate is to go to the testator's three grandchildren. John N. T. Walker, a grandson, is named executor.

HUSBAND BLACKED EYES, DIVORCE SEEKER CLAIMS

Her husband repeatedly blackened her eyes, Mrs. Bessie L. Leonard charges in her divorce action against Elmer Leonard on grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment. Mrs. Leonard said her husband wrote bad checks and when she told him about it and tried to show him it was wrong he beat her.

500 TALES OF GRAFT SIFTED

The Grand Jury probing Alderman John J. Verona's charges that the city administration reeks with graft was on vacation today while District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner and his assistant, Andrew T. Park, set out to analyze their gains thus far and to plan a new attack for the reopening of the investigation Wednesday.

Frazzled by three weeks' listening to tales of private crime and official corruption, the jurors became, as Park phrased it, "edgey," and were sent home for a four-day respite.

SIFT 1,200 PAGES

Park and Gardner went into a huddle over the 1,200 pages of testimony from the more than 500 witnesses. From this evidence they expected to develop a new plan of campaign that should alter the course of the inquiry next week and speed its progress.

In those many pages there were many picayune admissions, the record of many faltering memories and much repetition. But there also was, Gardner said, the basis for many indictments. How many he could not say, since punishment of many small offenders may be modified for the sake of strategy in convicting the higher-ups.

It has been evident that Gardner is letting the county's racketeers, as the phrase goes, "holler copper" on each other. Once before the grand jury, many a one has lost confidence in his backing and willingly supplied facts that have opened up new avenues of investigation.

LENIENCY FOR SOME

In return, some have been listed as witnesses with, presumably, expectation of leniency or immunity. Others, forgetful and defiant, in the end have talked themselves into indictments.

Through these admissions—willing and otherwise—trails leading to high places have been uncovered, according to Gardner.

"We are about through with this sort of thing," he said yesterday, as the jury recessed. "The groundwork has been well laid, and we're getting somewhere. I'm certain that when we reopen next week things will be happening.

"I don't expect the end in sight until the last week in October. There may be some presentments within two weeks."

Ten witnesses, most of them saloonkeepers, faced the jurors yesterday. While they added to the jury's knowledge of liquor privileges and the slot machine graft, the inquisitors waited for a chance to learn more of the police auto towing system from Public Safety Director James M. Clark and Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh. But the day dragged through without the appearance of the officials.

Gardner announced he had deferred calling on police heads, because he believed he first needed the testimony of other witnesses, found to be absent from the city.

EXPRESS DRIVERS JUST BEFORE STRIKE WAS SETTLED

Although the strike now has been peaceably settled and everyone is happy—comparatively—here is how express drivers in New York City stood around their distribution warehouse, refusing to take out their trucks, while thousands of dollars of perishable foods spoiled. The strike was called for the 3,600 members in New York of the Brotherhood of Railway and Express Clerks.

S. S. WOMAN DIES, AGED 110; ONCE WAR SLAVE IN EUROPE

Mrs. Antoinette Kratavage, who relatives say was 110 years old, is dead at her home, 2213 Jane street.

Born in Lithuania, Mrs. Kratavage is said to have been in slavery two years while her native land was at war. She came to the United States 20 years ago and had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Frances Marchulkonis.

On Wednesday Mrs. Kratvage was thrilled by the sight of the Los Angeles. That night she took a walk on the South Side with two of her 12 great-grandchildren. Yesterday she did not arise at the usual hour, complaining that she was tired. An hour later she was found dead.

Mrs. Kratavage was an active member of St. Casimir's Catholic Church and also of the Order of St. Francis and the Holy Rosary Society. She leaves a son and her daughter; 12 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Requiem high mass will be celebrated Monday at St. George's Lithuanian Catholic Church, South Nineteenth street.

Suing Wife Holds Mother-in-Law At Fault

After one year and 10 days of married life, James E. Weigle decided to leave, Mrs. Mildred H. Weigle told Judge Thomas D. Carnahan, who heard her divorce suit yesterday. She said she did not know why he left her. Mrs. Weigle said she had trouble with her husband's mother, but not much with her husband. The couple were married in Atlantic City August 31, 1924. At that time her husband worked for her father in Homestead, at the latter's furniture store. At present Mrs. Weigle is living at 410 Warrington avenue. She charges her husband with desertion.

WOMAN AUTO VICTIM DIES AT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 13.—Mrs. Emma Johnston, 67, who resides one mile south of Washington, died in Washington Hospital of injuries suffered when run down by an automobile driven by Paul Wilson, of Waynesburg. Wilson apparently was blinded by the lights of another machine.

31 VOTE FRAUD CASES STILL TO BE TRIED

Thirty-one cases of election officials indicted for violations of the election laws are still to be disposed of by the courts, according to a report prepared by Francis S. Guthrie, secretary of the Allegheny County Elections Association, Inc.

The report is to be presented to officials of the association at their annual meeting October 29. The meeting is to be held in the association headquarters in the House Building, and the result of the first year's activities is to be discussed.

The report states that 295 election board officials have been indicted, 173 pleading guilty or being convicted. Of those convicted, one was sentenced to seven months in jail; two were sentenced to 60 days in jail, and three were sentenced to 30 days in jail. Ninety-four were fined from $25 to $500; 95 were paroled from six months to five years and 18 disfranchised from four to five years. Two were discharged and three are missing or ill.

$10,000 CHURCH GIFT HINGES ON SAME SUM

The estate of the late Mrs. Marcella McKnight, 5741 Center avenue, will give $10,000 to the Sacred Heart Church, Shady avenue and Walnut Street, tomorrow, provided the congregation has raised an equal sum. The members of Sacred Heart parish are making efforts to raise their quota in offerings tomorrow.

Quashes Verona Aide's Elsner Charge

"POLITICS," COURT SAYS

Because it was indicated in court testimony that politics figured in the charge of surety of peace case against Police Inspector Joseph Elsner, Judge James B. Drew in Criminal Court yesterday ordered the charge dropped and placed the costs on Jack Berkowski, the prosecutor.

"The police must be kept out of politics," was Judge Drew's declaration after Burkowski, alias Jack Burke, a prize fighter; Owen McManus, Second Ward Republican chairman, and Elsner had testified.

Testimony indicated that the charge, brought before Alderman John J. Verona, was a part of the recent political war between the Verona adherents and administration leaders.

SMITH COHORTS PLAN RALLIES

Following out its program for a county-wide speaking program both indoors and outdoors in an effort to get the issues of the campaign before as many persons as possible, the Democratic committee of Allegheny county announces the following street meetings for 8 o'clock this evening:

North Side Municipal Building steps, R. E. Smith, chairman; William N. McNair, candidate for United States senator; P. M. O'Donnell, Emerson S. Smith, and Attorney James L. O'Toole, speakers.

South Twelfth and Carson streets, John O'Neil, chairman; Herman L. Hegner, John J. H. McCarty, Peter J. McGrath, Robert L. Hawthorne, speakers.

Beaver and Adams streets, North Side, James F. Burns, chairman; Thomas O'Connor, Attorney Conrad H. Checco, Chris Estel, Leo R. Hack, James A. Shaw, speakers.

Pearl and Liberty streets, Frank Anton, chairman; Attorney A. L. Wolk, H. A. Schwerin, Attorney Manuel Kraus, Attorney Joseph P. McAteer, speakers.

Bennett and Homewood, David Flinn, chairman; B. B. McGinnis, Dr. Frank C. Ferrante, Austin Staley, Hugh C. Boyle, speakers.

The Eighteenth Ward Smith-for-President Club also is holding a mass meeting this evening at its headquarters, 826 Warrington avenue. Among the speakers will be Thomas H. Hester, treasurer of the county committee; Attorney Byron J. Finn, James Philpott and Attorney James P. O'Connor.

DR. PEIRCE

Dr. Josephine L. Peirce, Lima, O., retiring president, Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, will be principal speaker at the meeting of the Washington County Federation of Women's Clubs at Canonsburg, next Wednesday.

2 TOTS DIE OF SCALDS

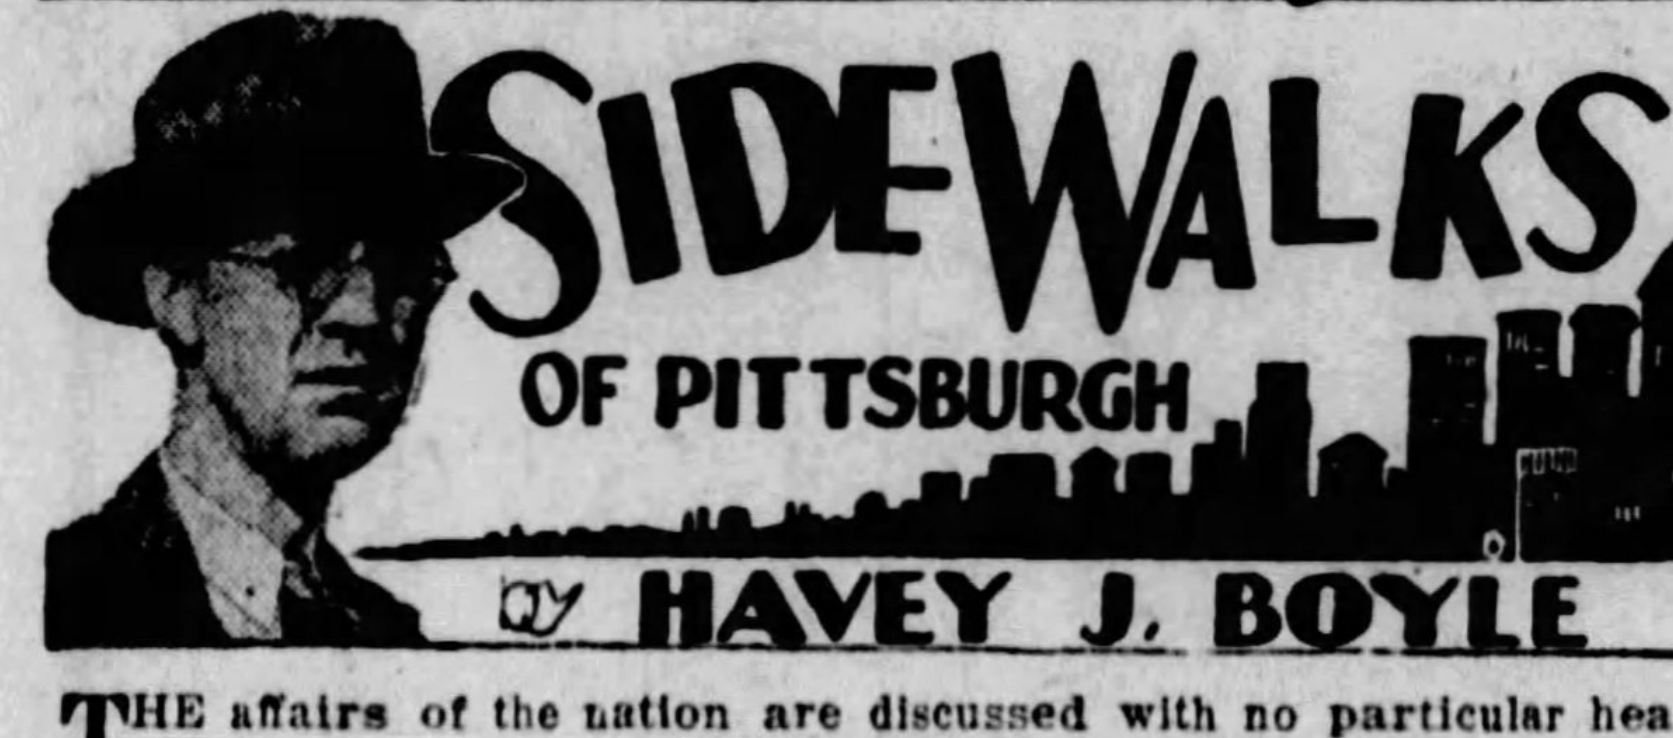
A girl and a boy died last night of burns suffered when they fell into tubs of boiling water in their homes on Thursday.

The victims are Grace Plouesch, 6, of 373 Highland avenue, Turtle Creek, and George Turak, 2, of 5112 Natrona way. Grace died at Mercy Hospital and George at St. Francis Hospital.

The coroner's report stated that the children fell into the hot water while at play.

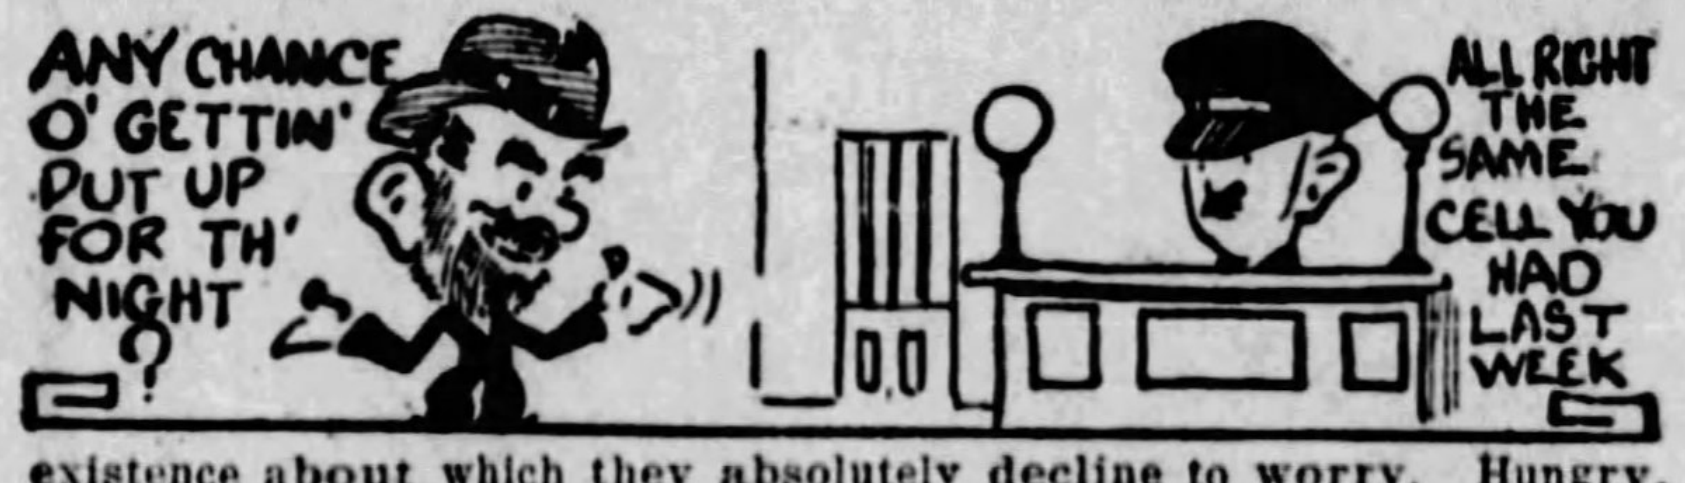
'Troopers' Badge Wins Free Rum —And 90 Days

Impersonating a state trooper in order to procure free drinks at speakeasies in the vicinity of Sharpsburg, was the charge that gained a three-month jail sentence for Guy Gregg, 1107 Coal street, Wilkinsburg, in Criminal Court yesterday. Police testified he had a badge that resembled the emblems worn by the troopers, and had been using it to graft liquor wherever he could find it. Judge James B. Drew imposed the sentence.



THE affairs of the nation are discussed with no particular heat by the gentlemen of leisure who amuse themselves by idling around the Fifth avenue side of the bleak Court House in Fifth avenue. It is almost a set uniform that these gentlemen affect through necessity. A faded blue shirt, a suit of no particular color, and shoes that bulge at the toes and run down hill at the heels, and this somewhat drab ensemble heightened with a week's growth of beard describe the loiterers. There is no harm in them at all.

They are just lazy boys, tired of what they consider an uneven struggle, and now have given themselves up to a hit or miss existence about which they absolutely decline to worry. Hungry, they'll move out to the thickly populated districts and bum a sandwich and a cup of coffee. Sleepy or cold, they'll ask for lodging in a police station cell. Sometimes when the police note the numbers are increasing there will be a roundup and then a few of them will do a stretch in the workhouse on the charge of vagrancy.



ANY CHANCE O' GETTIN' PUT UP FOR TH' NIGHT ?

Since the advent of moonshine, quite a few of the city's class in bumology have come down with bent frames. Moonshine seems to do something to them that even the cheapest rot-gut in the old days was unable to do. The rot-gut would produce a bulbous nose that first became red and later turned into a light purple, but after a spree the sufferers could walk fairly erect. Now you see these fellows, even when sober, twisted into various styles and shapes.

THEY keep off the main stem, as a rule, to escape the suspicious glances of blue coats. What they like best is an unfrequented alley where they may perch on a curbstone or mayhap even stretch out for an afternoon's siesta..

One fellow who talked us out of a dime told us that times of depression were more convenient to bums than days of prosperity. In hard times they always had an excuse they could not get work. In boom times they must be artful to escape the rigors of labor.

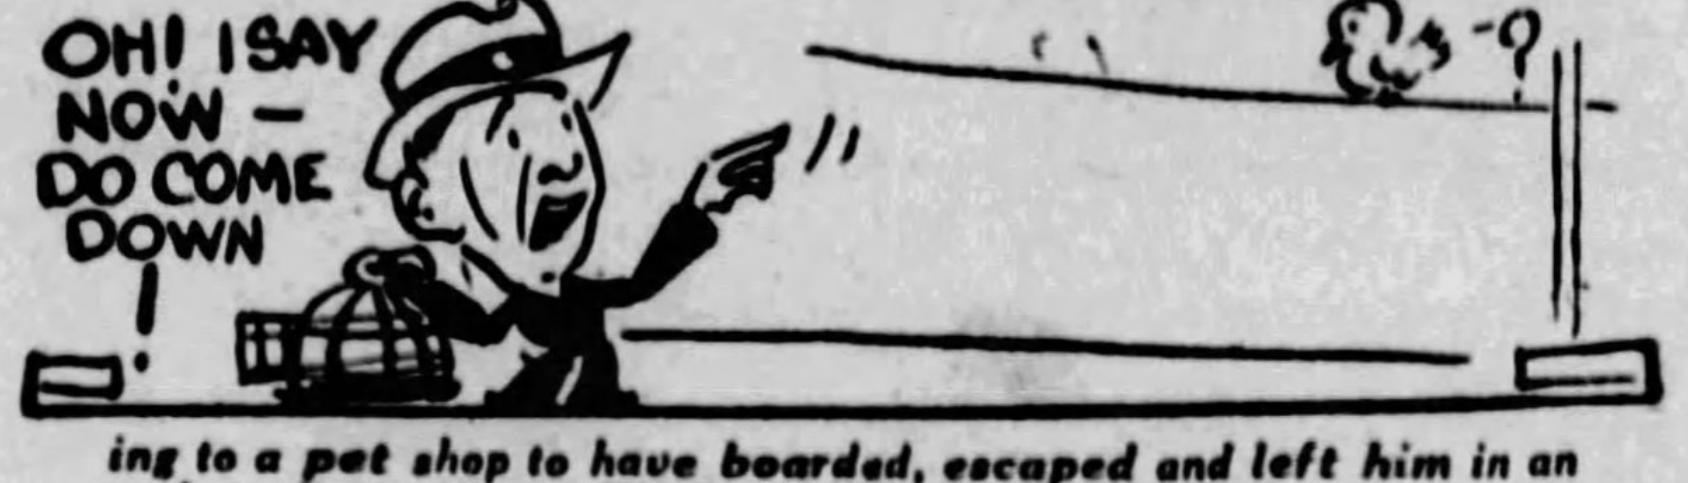
In Seventh avenue the other day a gentleman was in that position where he needed a friend. He was holding in his one hand an open bird cage while with the other he was waving to a dove that perched recklessly on top of a trolley wire. He explained to inquirers that the dove, which he was taking to a pet shop to have boarded, escaped and left him in an awkward position. The crowd was entertained, too, by the acrobatics of the dove. As a street car would come along the bird, just at the right second, would hop off the wire to allow the trolley wheel to pass. After the trolley had passed the bird resumed its position. After about 15 minutes of this, the bird responded to the entreaties of his whilom keeper and came down to earth.



OH! I SAY NOW— DO COME DOWN !

Falls Under Train, Killed

A man, thought to be W. S. Hearding, 25, of 7146 Penn avenue, a student employe of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, was killed while attempting to board a moving train at the Homewood station of the Pennsylvania Railroad this morning. He was decapitated.

Witnesses said that the man slipped and fell under the eighth coach of the train as it was pulling out of the station. It was a Pitcairn local.

There were several cards in the man's pockets. One bore the name "W. S. Hearding," and noted he was a student employe of the Westinghouse Company. Another card requested that, "in case of accident," W. Sanger Hearding, 2303 East Third avenue, Duluth, Minn., be notified. The address, 1043 Baldwin avenue, Ann Arbor, Mich., also appeared on this card.

It was stated at the Westinghouse offices that a man by the name of W. S. Hearding was in the company's employ. They had no record of his Pittsburgh address, but stated that they thought he lived at a rooming house in the Penn avenue district of Homewood. He was said to be about 25 years old.

CANDIDATE LOST ON TOUR

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Concern was expressed today at headquarters of the Workers (Communist) party here for the safety of Benjamin Gitlow, the party's vice presidential candidate, missing on a campaign tour.

The last the national campaign committee heard from him was when he left San Diego, Cal., to deliver campaign speeches in Phoenix last Tuesday night and Tucson, Ariz., Thursday. He did not appear at either place.

His associates here had a report that representatives of the American Legion and the Ku Klux Klan had met his train at Phoenix and ordered him "not to get off the train but keep on going."

William O'Brien, the party's candidate for governor of Arizona, wired national headquarters from Phoenix that he was looking in small town jails for Gitlow, but due to the holiday was unable to get official reports. O'Brien is out on $10 bail after being arrested for attempting to hold a meeting on a school campus in Phoenix Tuesday night.

Gitlow, a former New York state assemblyman, was convicted of criminal anarchy in 1920 and sentenced to serve from five to 10 years in Sing Sing. He was pardoned by Gov. Smith in 1925.

BORED HUSBAND LEAVES, WIFE ASKS FOR DIVORCE

Tired of married life, David W. Lloyd told his wife, Mrs. Helen E. Lloyd, that he was "going out in the world to be a free man," she said in divorce court yesterday. Mrs. Lloyd, who lives at 42 Solar street, says she hasn't seen him in the two years since. The couple were married in 1920, Judge Thomas D. Carnahan was told.

CAMPAIGNS DELAYED

COMMUNIST CANDIDATES

The campaigns of Carl Hacker, candidate for lieutenant governor of Ohio, and Israel Amter (right), candidate for United States Senate, today are delayed—perhaps they'll be canceled. The men are in Belmont (O.) county jail, lodged there for addresses at Martins Ferry. Police raided the Communist meeting with tear bombs. "We're held so we can't campaign," they told the sheriff.

Will Rogers Says

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 13.

With this Zeppelin 1,200 miles to the south of its true course, and Al Smith, a Democratic candidate, 800 miles south of his true course, and Hoover going to New England, 100 miles north of what should be his true course, it's a cinch with such poor navigation all around some of these are not going to reach their destination.

But did you ever see as much ground covered and as many speeches made as these two vice presidential candidates are making? It's out of all proportion to the position.

One of them is going to get badly fooled—the one that is elected.

Yours, WILL ROGERS.

How Biggest Bankers Feel; Taylor Is Steel Success.

By B. C. FORBES

I HAVE just had talks with J. P. Morgan & Co., partners, with President Charles E. Mitchell, of the National City Bank, with First National (George F. Baker's) bank men and other high-ups in the financial world, with the result that I haven't the slightest desire to rush in and buy stocks.

MR. MITCHELL, just back from Europe, finds credit inflation distinctly worse than when he left?

"I would not feel alarmed over the unprecedented rise in stock quotations could I feel that it had been brought about by a corresponding increase in savings of the people buying stocks," he remarked. "But when I examine brokers' loans, and especially when I note that over $2,000,000,000 of non-bank money is being used by brokers I cannot but feel that the rise in stocks has been helped along more by borrowed money than by new savings. Always in the past credit inflation has been interpreted as a warning. I, for one, so interpret it again.

"Just when a change will come, no human being can foretell. But those of us who have some familiarty with past financial history cannot doubt that the credit expansion process will have an end."

ONE banker who had the stock market sized up correctly long after most others had turned bearish is Everett B. Sweezy, one of George F. Baker's right hand men. Mr. Sweezy refused to become alarmed over the market's rise. He emphasized that the war had completely transformed America's financial position and condition and that our good stocks would unquestionably reflect this changed position and condition.

Unfortunately, Mr. Sweezy's health has been indifferent for some time—just as so many other brainy men in the financial world have had to withdraw temporarily from the excessive strain. Therefore, it is not possible to record how Mr. Sweezy now feels about the market's prospects, as he will not be back on the job for some weeks.

One of his associates, when I asked him whether he was a bear or a bull, instantly replied, "a nervous bull." Then he added that he was ready to run at quick notice.

And that, so far as I have been able to discover, exactly represents the attitude of those who are still holding on to any considerable line of stocks. Most of the big fellows have already cleared their decks and are ready for whatever squalls or storms may arise.

DON'T try to bluff the boss.

Thomas J. Watson, president of the International Business Machines, who was for several years one of John H. Patterson's chief lieutenants at the National Cash Register Company, tells this one:

Mr. Patterson had taken a half-a-dozen of his executives on a European trip. When in Paris the weather became very cold. Mr. Patterson asked them to take a brisk walk with him. One of the men, anxious to impress the boss that he was intent solely on business, begged to be excused as he had duties he simply must attend to. When they returned to the hotel, each was wearing a glorious seal-lined overcoat, the gift of the boss. And the bluffer was, of course, left out in the cold.

Mr. Patterson had uncanny ability to see through pretense.

MYRON C. TAYLOR, recently selected as chairman of the executive committee of the U. S. Steel Corporation, has taken hold most effectively, directors declare. "He is proving a great comfort," commented an influential member of the finance committee. When Judge Gary died there was some misgivings as to how his place could be successfully filled. With J. P. Morgan at the head of the finance committee, James A. Farrell as president and Mr. Taylor at the helm of the executive committee, the corporation's lineup is proving most effective.

Although Steel common shares have been going up with the rest of the market, they haven't been put through the sensational paces of many other issues. When the reaction comes they are likely to suffer less than the over-boomed varieties.

B. O. CHAPMAN, of Merrill, Greer, Chapman Company, St. Paul, Minn., writes:

"Your articles against a seven-day week are right to the point. Not only is the railroad man entitled to his Sunday, but oil stations could be closed on Sunday if the public were educated to do their purchasing the day before. Formerly it was considered necessary to have barber shops open on Sunday, but that is largely eliminated, and the same relief should be given to men operating filling stations. Every man, especially one having a family, is entitled to go with his family to church."

WALL STREET now looks for no pre-election scare. A Hoover victory is taken for granted.

STOCK MARKET ACTIVE AND STRONG

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(AP.)—Today's brief session of the stock market was one of the strongest and most active since the beginning of the prolonged upmovement.

Prices of a wide variety of stocks forged relentlessly upward, with the advance most impressive among the "blue chip" issues, those selling between $200 and $300 per share. A foretaste of what was to occur was given at the opening, when large blocks of the most active stocks changed hands at prices several points above the previous close.

Montgomery Ward and United States Steel common shared the limelight, the former soaring 13 points to 295 and the latter changing hands in enormous transactions above 165, both prices invading new high territory. Bethlehem Steel also reached new high ground above 71, buying of these issues being based on reports of a pending stock split-up in United States Steel and a resumption of dividends by Bethlehem.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The cotton market opened barely steady at an advance of 10 points on October, but generally unchanged to 11 points lower. Over holiday firmness in Liverpool seemed to be more than offset by the failure of the weather news to show any frost in the cotton belt since the close of Thursday and there was heavy liquidation during the early trading. December sold off to 19.05c and March to 18.95c, making net declines of about 13 to 18 points on the more active positions. This break brought in a good deal of covering and later fluctuations showed rallies to nearly Thursday's closing quotations, with the market quieter at the end of the first half hour. Private cables reported London and continental buying with fair trade calling in Liverpool and said that Manchester was more cheerful with more idle machinery restarting.

Opening declines on the failure of the weather news to contain any mention of frost in the cotton belt were just about recovered as a result of trade buying and covering, but prices eased off again later under renewed liquidation. December contracts after selling up from 19.07 to 19.22c declined to 19.05c. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 14 to 19 points.

Futures closed steady, 14 to 20 points lower. October, 19.16c; December, 19.06@19.07c; January, 19.03@19.05c; March, 18.91@18.92c; May, 18.83c. Spot quiet; middling, 19.40c.

BLAW-KNOX HIGHER ON EXCHANGE

FUEL SECURITIES FIRM PENNSYLVANIA CRUDE UP

The short week-end session on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange, sandwiched in between the Friday holiday and the usual Sunday suspension, failed to develop anything sensational, although prices held firm.

There was no reflection here of the strong market in New York, where United States Steel, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward and a half dozen other leading industrials forced their way into new high ground as buying orders disclosed increasing scarcity of the stocks at anything near the levels prevailing on the close Thursday.

Blaw Knox was the strong issue in the local market with little stock available around the 120-level at which it had been selling for several days prior to today's opening. The traders here wanted the stock this morning and were willing to advance bids with the result that the opening sale was at 122½, up 2½ points from the price at which it sold on the close Thursday. Inquiry at the Blaw Knox offices here failed to disclose what action had been taken at the directors' meeting Thursday, at which the board was expected to consider the matter of readjusting the company's capital stock.

Fuel issues were steady to firm with Lone Star and Arkansas, leaders of the recent activity in that section, showing small fractional gains. The raise of 10 cents a barrel in the price of Pennsylvania crude oil, while a favorable factor for the oil and gas industry generally, was not reflected in the trading here. Oils in New York made a mild response to the news, but there was no rush to buy petroleum stocks.

ROUND TABLE of BUSINESS

Penn Mex Increases Its Output—Investors Neglecting Bonds for Stocks of Well-Managed Corporations.

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THE Penn Mex Fuel Company has increased its production to about 10,000 barrels a day through the recent completion of Jardin well No. 5 in Mexico. The well has been pinched in to 3,800 barrels a day because of the appearance of sediment in surrounding producers, but officials state that an actual output of 10,000 barrels a day could be secured from this well alone.

PENN MEX had a production of 20,000 barrels a day early this year, which was reduced to about 7,000 barrels to keep down the sediment. The company now has six wells drilling, two of which are nearing completion.

THE South Penn Oil Company owns a controlling interest in Penn Mex Fuel. The improvement in the market for Pennsylvania crude during this year will be reflected in 1928 earnings of the local company.

A WIDESPREAD change has taken place in the public demand for investments. The year-to-year growth in corporate wealth and earnings is making many investors turn from bonds to stocks.

THE prospects of greater future earnings in a well-managed industrial organization are increasing the public confidence in common stocks, to the neglect of bonds with their limited return. In many cases stocks are bought with a view to enhancement of the principal rather than to the immediate return in dividends.

THE past few years have given many corporations excellent opportunities to improve their capital structures. The period of cheap money which recently came to a close was marked by wholesale refunding operations. Bonds were replaced by new issues at lower interest rates.

THE summer slump in the bond market and the advance in money has brought this to a stop, but many corporations are still using the sale of common stock to eliminate funded debt, to retire preferred stock and to finance expansion.

WHILE the purchaser of common stocks for investment purposes has the lure of profit from the nation's future growth, it is necessary for him to keep a much closer check on his holdings. No one knows how long the advancing stock market will continue. No one knows if and when stock prices may turn downward.

FROM a long-range viewpoint, however, the study of selected lists of diversified stocks and bonds over long periods of years has shown that the holder of stocks has done better than the bond owners. The rising tendency of commodity prices during various periods in comparison with the fixed return on bonds has been a contributing factor to this result.

BANKERS who formerly recommended bonds entirely for investment lists now almost invariably include a proportion of preferred stocks and common stocks. The most successful investors from the standpoint of both increasing and protecting their capital have not been merely creditors of American industry through the ownership of bonds, but they have also been part owners through stock holdings.

Heavy Melting Scrap Rises.

Sales of heavy melting steel have been made in this district at $18, an advance of $1 over recent transactions. The trend of prices continues toward higher levels. The absence of steel works from the market as sellers, active consumption and strength in steel scrap, all point to higher prices in pig iron in the near future, according to sellers, says the Daily Metal Trade. Primary iron and steel industry of the Mahoning Valley is to continue at a 90 per cent operating rate next week.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Wheat prices turned downward today after a show of firmness at the start. Declines were ascribed to reports of excellent crop prospects in Argentina and to denials of frost there. Opening unchanged to ¼@⅜c up wheat later showed a setback all around. Corn, oats and provisions tended upward, with corn starting at ⅜c to ⅝@⅞c advance, but subsequently reacting somewhat.

At first the wheat market today was disturbed by reports that frost had appeared in Southern Argentina, and that crop damage was threatened. Later dispatches, however, conveyed assurance that Southern Argentina is not an important wheat area, and that low temperatures in the section referred to were unimportant. Central and Northern Argentina, where grain is jointed, is the critical area.

Private cables to Chicago houses subsequently brought flat denials of frost in Argentina, and affirmed that the wheat crop outlook for the country as a whole is first class. Under such circumstances, early advances today in wheat prices here were soon more than wiped out, and for the time being, the bull side of the market was at a material disadvantage. Word from India telling of timely rains was also also a bearish factor and so to were predictions that Monday's figures on the United States wheat visible supply would beat privous records by at least 20,000,000 bushels.

Deficit in City Looms As Budget Is Ignored

With the year little more than three-fourths spent Council is engaged in its annual occupation of being watchdog of the city treasury as a budget deficit looms. Councilman W. Y. English has reminded his confreres that a shortage is indicated, and that he "would have to be shown" before he consented to any tax increase. Perhaps the various departments and bureaus and divisions are trying to "show" him.

When the budget for the present year was sent to Council for approval that body made deep cuts in various estimates in order to keep the millage down. What good does it do to chop off expense in the estimates and make it up in the succeeding budget to offset a deficit, as Councilman English intimates must be done in his statement that expenditures will have to be held at the lowest figure for the remainder of the year?

Just now the Department of Public Works is being criticized because of customs in purchasing and accounting that have permitted shortages to grow, and fear has been expressed that the plans complained of may extend to other departments.

Council is quite properly disturbed. When it makes appropriations for a year it does not mean that they shall be expended in nine months and that all kinds of expedients, like the transfer of moneys from one fund to another, shall be resorted to in order to keep the city's head above water for the remainder of the year.

Cannot our city heads and employes realize that the budget plan has been adopted here and that the public expects it to be adhered to?

Still Make Beer in England

And, Just Think of It, They're Proud of It.

HOP PICKING TIME IN ENGLAND.

England's hop-picking season, giving healthful, pleasant work for thousands in the open air, is looked upon as a holiday. Even children are engaged in the picking.

And this will HORRIFY prohibitionists. A British newspaper actually prints this picture and under it these words: "BEER, BEER, GLORIOUS BEER!" Think of that and shudder. "Glorious Beer," why the very idea!

We have no public hop picking and beer brewing in this country. But we have any amount of beer badly made, so-called "home brew," dangerous to health.

And many workmen unfortunately drink what is called "needled beer," beer sent from the brewery with no alcohol in it and then "needled" in the speakeasy. The needling process is done with a long syringe, filled with alcohol, pumped into the beer keg through the bung or wooden stopper with the aid of a sharp needle.

The alcohol thus injected into the beer is a poisonous product, often made from denatured alcohol sold at gasoline stations.

The alcohol is redistilled and PART ONLY of the poison removed. Then it is sold and drunk in the needled beer.

This picture of gathering hops to make "glorious beer," as the unregenerate Britishers call it, will shock good prohibitionists.

But "needled" beer, with wood alcohol or denatured alcohol, SHOCKS THE AMERICAN KIDNEYS.

If Gov. Smith Should Lead

It Would Hardly Be THAT Way.

Mr. Morgenthau, once American ambassador to Turkey, says the whole world looks to America for moral and financial leadership, and he hails Gov. Smith "as the man most capable of picking up and raising aloft the torch that fell from the hand of Woodrow Wilson."

If Gov. Smith should undertake world leadership, it is safe to predict that he would not lead in the Woodrow Wilson direction. He would not lead toward the League of Nations, or European complications. Gov. Smith understands politics and knows what it means when the American people vote twice in succession, with 7,000,000 plurality against that kind of leadership.

A Perennial World's Fair

Why Worry Chicago?

Someone suggested a world's fair in New York in 1932 to celebrate the 200th anniversary of George Washington's birth, and incidentally to spoil a 1933 world's fair, long since planned by Chicago, to celebrate that city's 100th birthday.

The wise, polite and brotherly thing for New York to do, is FIRST, to remember what happened in Philadelphia recently, and, second, to back out and make way for Chicago. Chicago knows how to run a world's fair, and has proved it.

New York IS a world's fair all the year round. It has more visitors than it can take care of and the stream of United States spending money pours forever into its pocket. That ought to be enough.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

The Insects

I WISH to echo the call of Dr. Howard, the head of the Government Bureau of Entomology, for a broader popular and educational interest in the science of insects. Nobody who has a knowledge of the situation can doubt the truth of Dr. Howard's assertion, astonishing though it may seem, that it is not man but insects that hold the dominant place in the whole animal kingdom. Otherwise put, this is not "the age of man," as has been fondly and proudly imagined, but "the age of insects," or, to speak of the whole branch of animals to which the insects belong, "the age of the arthropods."

There are half a million known species of insects in the world. All the other species of animals put together, including all the other classes of the arthropodis themselves, number less than a quarter as many as the insects. Besides, the insects far exceeded all other animals in the number of individuals representing each species. They constitute half a million armies, each composed of billions of individuals. Who can count the house flies in a village, the mosquitos in a swamp, the locusts in a swarm, the bugs and grubs in a garden, the caterpillars in the fruit trees, the ravagers in the cotton fields, the grain-devourers, the tree-destroyers, the flower-spoilers, the borers, the disembowelers, the smotherers and killers of every description that prey upon the vegetable kingdom, the defenseless realm of the plants? Or who can number the clouds of minute insects that choke the air on a summer or an autumn day, or the tormentors of beast and man that spread not only discomfort, but disease and death broadcast? The insects are man's most powerful and most dangerous enemy. By their overwhelming numbers and amazing powers of reproduction they conquer.

The insects began their career upon the earth millions of years before man. "Man is a newcomer. He is yet an experiment. He is only beginning to dispute the ascendancy of the arthropod series." These are the words of some of the foremost living entomologists. Dr. Howard is quite right in asking:

"Why is not entomology given a vastly greater importance in the leading educational institutions?" and in adding, "One answer may be put in the form of a question, 'Where are the teachers?' Teachers must be taught before they can become teachers. And those teachers that come from the great zoological laboratories can teach little but what they have been taught, and they have not been taught entomology."

• • •

I am no entomologist, but I can testify that entomology is a fascinating subject for those who will turn their attention to it. Let boys be introduced to the ants and their astounding wars (so like the very wars that we men are now trying to outlaw), to the glittering host of the tiger beetles gleaming in the sun like crusaders in jeweled and rainbow-hued armor, to the tricks and traps of the ant-lions, the crafty ways of spiders, the amazing performances of wasps and bees, the strange forms and colors of leaf insects and stick insects, the incredible doings of diving spiders, and let them see these creatures and their habitations for themselves, and the result may well be that the number of entomologists and teachers of entomology will increase. Even those who only learn a little about the wonderful insect world, as I did when a boy, and go no further, will at least be in a position to use their influence when they become voters in favor of every public effort to promote the study of this interesting science which is of so high importance to human welfare.

Once Overs

By J. J. MUNDY

Do It Today!

YOU are putting off till a later date something that you know you should attend to very soon.

When you first realized that this something should be done by you, you thought it would be accomplished within a short time, didn't you?

You would have been surprised then if it had been suggested that you would neglect to do this essential thing.

And the longer you put it off the easier to do so.

In fact, there are days and weeks when perhaps you never think of it.

It may be some work that you should perform.

It may be a physical examination you are deferring too long.

You know you made a half-formed resolution to consult a specialist quite a long time ago, and you have not done it.

You know you are not up to your best, but you fear the truth.

Somehow you don't want to know about yourself, and you don't want to do an unpleasant thing, so you let it go.

You may wake to regret—better do it today.

If you have some ailment, your condition becomes more serious the longer you neglect it.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

The Constant Heart

THIS hope seems too feeble, this care too great
Sometimes for the stress of the years;
How long must the heart that is constant wait
While it struggles with countless fears?

Far sooner the winds of the world would rest
In their wanderings to and fro,
Far sooner the bird would abandon her nest
And the tides, moon-freed, would flow.

Than that ever the constant heart would change
Or false to its trust would prove
And to immemorial faiths grown strange,
Would turn from the ways of love!

Great Passages from the Bible

Herod's Massacre

(Matthew 2; 1-16)

NOW when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judæa in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem,

Saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him.

When Herod the king had heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him.

And when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he demanded of them where Christ should be born.

And they said unto him, In Bethlehem of Judæa; for thus it is written by the prophet,

And thou Bethlehem, in the land of Juda, art not the least among the princes of Juda: for out of thee shall come a Governor, that shall rule my people Israel.

Then Herod, when he had privily called the wise men, enquired of them diligently what time the star appeared.

And he sent them to Bethlehem, and said, Go and search diligently for the young child; and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him also.

When they had heard the king, they departed; and, lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was.

When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy.

And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense, and myrrh.

And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way.

And when they were departed, behold, the angel of the Lord appeareth to Joseph in a dream, saying, Arise, and take the young child and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be thou there until I bring thee word: for Herod will seek the young child to destroy him.

When he arose, he took the young child and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt:

And was there until the death of Herod: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying, Out of Egypt have I called my son.

Then Herod, when he saw that he was mocked of the wise men, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, and slew all the children that were in Bethlehem, and in all the coasts thereof, from two years old and under, according to the time which he had diligently enquired of the wise men.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

ONE thing about working men, they don't get sore about jokes on themselves. You can talk all you want to about getting your shirts ruined at the laundry, and you never hear a squawk out of the laundry workers. They just have a good laugh, because they know that people that complain about their old shirts are nearly always cranks anyhow.

Well, this one is about another trade that takes its fun good-natured.

Some fellows was promised they could tee off for their golf game at four o'clock, and when they got there they wasn't allowed to start yet.

"But you told us over the phone you was just holding the links for one party and then we could start."

"Yes," says the manager, "but it's a tournament the plumbers are having, and they've gone back to town for their clubs, so's we're a bit late getting started."

His Explanation

THE chairman of a local council in Ireland was not an educated man. He was giving his account of the splendid year's work done by the council and reading out the report by the medical officer of health.

"Mr. Chairman," asked one of his opponents, "with reference to your figures regarding the death rate, what does 12.9 mean?"

"What does it mean?" replied the chairman, looking severely at his questioner. "It means that out of every thousand inhabitants 12 have died and nine are at the point of death."

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The architectural changes and sweep of trade have not given Fifth avenue the gaudiness its valiant protectors expected. Those who predicted it would become flashy like Broadway were wrong. It is still "the avenue."

In my early days in New York most big establishments were without identification signs as Tiffany's is today. While there are no projecting signs over the sidewalk or electrical displays now, the windows and doorways are generously lettered.

But even the red-fronted five and tens, chain drug stores and the white enameled eateries have failed to erase Fifth avenue's dignity. Park avenue has doubtless passed it as a toney residential section, but among New Yorkers the avenue remains "the aristocrat of streets."

No thoroughfare in the city has undergone such a complete change in the last five years. People away for several years are unable to recognize certain sections at all. Only the stately library lions, St. Patrick's Cathedral spire and St. Thomas' gargoyles recall other days.

The air of residential bliss pervading the several blocks northward from Washington Arch has vanished. Of all the famous homes the one once occupied by Mark Twain remains. In their stead have come apartment houses and hotels with ornate fronts.

Even the antiquated and charming old Brevoort is modernized and now has man-sized elevators and a bath for every room. With the exception of the Waldorf, nearly all the avenue hotels another generation knew so well have been torn down.

When the Vanderbilt mansion was razed at the Plaza Fountain Park entrance its defenders threw up their hands. They said the avenue was through and its charm was gone. Yet it remains as important and almost as dignified as ever it was. It is a street with "It."

Another old-time touch remaining on Fifth avenue are the antiquarian dodos who twiddle their thumbs in valetudinarian ease in roomy club windows. They seem to spend their days gazing at sidewalk crowds, turning to the financial pages and toddling out at 5 o'clock for a promenade. Their manner is starchy as their standup collars and their conversation as crisp as their closely cut mustaches—the last of the vanishing aristocrats.

However, all Fifth avenue clubmen do not conform to this sedate type. There is one who went visiting in the West and after a few days hurried courtship married a professional cowgirl—a bronk buster with a rodeo outfit—to the indignation, mortification and eternal damnation of several sons who had to quit a life of luxury and begin punching a clock.

A convivial group in a speakeasy had reached that hilarious stage of wanting to strike matches, ring a few doorbells or something. They started off reserving first row seats for a musical show and tables at a night club afterward. Thirty minutes later all had passed out in taxicabs. And that is what usually happens to the all night party in New York. It dies aborning.

Just one ordinary drink these days and you begin to cherish a hope the orchestra will play louder, for heaven's sake, so, whatever you do, there will be no panic. A second drink and you spend the next morning peeking out the window to see how many stray bodies are in the courtyard.

Why Give Up

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

I have received a very pitiful letter from a woman out West.

She has had a hard time all her life. She has raised three children, who do nothing for her support. When her husband died he was found to have been improvident and left her no money. She has gone stone deaf. On top of this she has just had a very serious operation in a hospital.

She can see no way out. Nothing presents itself to her but continued suffering, privation and dependence. She is about ready to give up. What should she do?

Of course it is difficult for any one in comparative health and well being to give advice to sufferers. One is always open to the imputation of being supercilious. It is always easy for the philosopher to bear the toothache patiently when some one else has it.

At the same time, and at the risk of being called hard names, I repeat the question, "Why give up?"

Suppose you do give up. Will life be any easier to bear?

It is just as well to look squarely at the alternative.

When some one told Tolstoy that many kind, virtuous and honest people had a very hard time, he replied: "What about those that are unkind, not virtuous and dishonest? Look about you. Do the people like that whom you know have any easier time?"

The church in the middle ages is often accused of being very cruel. But what about the people outside of the church. Were they any less cruel?

Life may be hard at best, but it is easier and pleasanter all around if we keep a stout heart and do the best we can under the circumstances.

Whatever may be in store for this woman, whatever deprivation and suffering, we can be sure that she will get along better if she meets her fate bravely and smilingly and does not give way to despair.

Whatever happens to us we are better off if we battle on and keep our chin up.

Despair is nothing but a bog, a quicksand, that engulfs the soul. It leaves us no spirit with which to fight.

When a Persian soldier told a Lacedemonian that in battle the Persian arrows would be so thick they would darken the sky, "then," said the Lacedemonian, "we will fight in the shade."

Right Angles

By ALEXANDER CAIRNS

What Shall I Read?

YOUNG men, lease me your listeners and I shall attempt an antiphon to your oft-repeated chant, "What shall I read?" And if the co-eds of this column insist I shall serve them with a like menu soon.

Possibly Robert Louis Stevenson, the well-beloved, was right when he said that novels were the best reading and that he knew because he had read thousands of them. But I think not. In any case it goes without discussion that fiction is not the best prescription for the mind of a young man just learning the ropes of life.

I put biography first. And literary America has never known such an output of excellent biographies as we are getting recently. Their virtue is that they are being written humanly. We are making so many demigods. We even dare intimate that some ex-President was no paragon of immaculate righteousness.

And since it is true, as Emerson says, that "there is properly no history, only biography," it follows that one well versed in biography is a good historian. Read Lincoln's biography and you have learned the history of the Civil War. Read the biographies of a few Louises plus one Napoleon and you have the history of the French Revolution.

The utility of biography is that it paints in graphic colors the pathway to success or failure or fame or shame, with all byways and pitfalls and attractions and impossibilities. And that to a young man is a liberal education.

Let me suggest a few biographies and please don't accuse me of advertising some publisher's wares for a consideration. I am not within radio hail of any publisher.

There are recent books on Napoleon, Washington, Lincoln, Bismarck, Bok, Franklin, Heine, Beecher and others. Hubbard's "Little Journeys" can't be beat for style and human interest. There is a series of books on American Reformers, which include such heroes as Garrison, Phillips, Greeley. And another series on "American Crisis Biographies" much worth while. "The Irish Orators," by Bowers, is an inspiration. Read also "Letters from a Self-Made Merchant to His Son."

Read books pertaining to your job. Any library will give you gratis a digest of current events. Read the prominent essayists, Emerson, Addison, Macaulay, Lamb, Bacon, Carlyle, Holland, Lubbock, Aurelius, Epictetus and so on. They are next in importance to the biographies.

Then follow your taste in literature whether it be drama, art, poetry, philosophy, science, ethics or whatnot.

And if this course doesn't make you feel as though you had a whole new set of glands then I shall resign this chair of "Right Angles."

Cussin'

REV. DR. JOHN THOMPSON says there has been a marked decrease in the amount of profanity with which the Chicagoan interlards his conversation nowadays, as compared with his custom of 25 years ago.

Some folks from other parts of the country—the East, the South and the Far West—insist, however, that the Chicagoan's tongue still is pretty rough to their ears. There never has been a survey to establish the facts. It is a charge hard to prove, or to disprove. Perhaps critics do not mean profanity within the strict definition. There is one expression that calls for "shootin' irons" in the South and the West that pops out every 10 minutes on the streets of Chicago. It seems to be used, not as a deadly taunt, but as mere rough badinage.

Every city is sufficiently grown up to be past the gawky age that thinks swearing is proof of virility.
